Safety Procedures Criticized

Court Of Inquiry Convenes In Study Of Carrier Blaze

NEW YORK (AP) — A naval court of inquiry convenes today to study the disastrous fire that struck the aircraft carrier Constellation. Expected to be on its agenda is the City Fire Department's stern criticism of naval safety procedures aboard the big vessel.

Three more charred bodies of workmen were recovered from the Constellation Tuesday, bringing to 49 the number lost in Monday's fire. The blaze scorched the ship from stem to stern, buckled plates, twisted beams, and set back the carrier's completion date by at least a year.

Damage was estimated at $75 million.

In Washington, a second naval group, this one composed of four technical experts, will inquire into "possible fire hazards to ships under construction at navy and private shipyards." The Navy said the panel will consider specifically the substitution of metal for wooden floors for staging or scaffolding, among other things.

This was the center of the city's criticism. Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr said there would have been "a substantial difference in the intensity and extent of the fire" if metal rather than wooden scaffolding had been used. The Fire Department requires the use of metal scaffolding on city pier projects, but the Constellation was being built at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and was out of the city's jurisdiction.

Cavanagh commented angrily on the disaster at a Fire Department promotion ceremony, attended by reporters without his knowledge.

"You may hear more about yesterday's fire when investigations are held," he said. "There is just no excuse for these things that go on happening."

Urging fire inpectors to get tough, he said: "Get these slobs out of business. That goes for official slobs as well as civilian slobs. There is no magic in these great agencies."

When Cavanagh learned that reporters had been present, he explained that he wasn't trying to tell the Navy how to operate and said the service has its own experts who "undoubtedly will come up with the same answers I've got in mind."

Navy Secretary William B. Franke, who came to New York for a personal inspection of the damaged $250-million carrier, said the use of wooden staging was standard naval procedure. He said he sees no reason to change unless such a move is recommended by the inquiry court.

However, vice Adm. Charles Wellborn Jr., 3rd Naval Dist. Commandant, said he would recommend metal scaffolding on future Navy projects.

Tri-State Area Staggers Under 7-10-Inch Snow; More's Due

Heavy Snow Closes Some Ohio Plants

Traffic Disrupted; Highways Drifted; 12 Deaths Reported

By The Associated Press

A heavy blanket of snow—up to 10 inches in some spots—covered Ohio today, disrupting country and city transportation, closing schools and some factories and slowing business activities from Lake Erie to the Ohio River.

At least 12 deaths were attributed to the weather, nine of them blamed on heart attacks from over-exertion in shoveling snow and getting automobiles out of snow drifts on streets and highways.

The snowfall, which began in most areas Tuesday evening, continued into dawn and beyond, wind-whipped during the early hours Wednesday into drifts that reached four feet in spots.

By mid-morning snow removal crews in cities and towns, along with 895 state highway department crews, were getting the upper-hand on the snow. But hours were expected to pass before things returned to normal.

All primary and secondary highways are snow-covered and slippery with heavy drifting reported. Some highways were reported closed, including Ohio 29 between U.S. 40 and Ohio 38 in Madison County, Ohio 56 from London to Summerford in Madison County, Ohio 313 between Chancellorville in Muskingum County to the Guernsey County line, Ohio 511 between U.S. 30 and Ohio 39 in Ashland County.

The Weather Bureau reported that while the snowstorm is over, snow flurries will continue today throughout the state, with more wind and colder temperatures on the way.

School closures were general throughout the state, although a few continued operations.

The snow removal crews of the metropolitan areas were out all night shoveling and spreading salt, so that downtown streets were fairly clear by 9 a.m.

But in the residential areas of most cities and towns stalled cars on streets were common.

Thousands of people in Columbus and other central Ohio cities were late for work as start of normal city bus and trolley transportation service was delayed.

The Weather Bureau reported a new snowfall of 8½ inches in Columbus, on top of about 1½ inches already on the ground. Snow fall in other sections of the state: Youngstown 9, Cleveland 9, Bell-

FESTOONED FRIGIDLY. Winter left his calling card throughout East Liverpool as the first heavy snow of the season gave these promises of a White Christmas. Cars in a sales lot showed the depth of the snow, which ranged up to 7 inches in the Ohio Valley, while the street scene shows how business places got out their shovels early this morning, clearing most walks for the onslaught of Christmas shoppers. Garbage cans are prosaic at best but they took on a "Beatnik-type" Christmas card appearance with their deep snowy caps. Cool, man, cool!

Schools Shut In County As Roads Drift

Palestine Man Dies From Heart Attack After Shoveling

Staggered by a snowfall of 7 to 10 inches, the Tri-State District was attempting today to dig out of the severest storm of the season that drifted rural roads, snarled traffic and forced the closing of many schools.

And more is on the way, according to the Ohio weatherman, who forecast 2 to 4 inches through today with near-zero cold tonight to accent the first day of winter.

The storm was the indirect cause of a death — an East Palestine man died after shoveling snow.

Otto H. Geiger, 77 of 417½ N. Market St., Board of Health member and ex-councilman, died this morning from a heart attack suffered while clearing snow in front of his home.

All Columbiana County schools were closed but those in Hancock and Beaver Counties held classes as usual with some absenteeism. Most were scheduled to close at the end of classes today or Thursday for the Christmas-New Year's vacation.

East Liverpool public and parochial schools did not open today and officials are undecided as to whether or not classes will resume Thursday.

Normal classes were held today in the Hancock County and Stanton Local School systems.

Today is the final day for Stanton Local pupils until Jan. 3 in Irondale, Hammondsville, Port Homer, Empire, and Stratton. Buses traveling the rural areas were late in arriving this morning because of snow-choked highways.

Wellsville city schools also were closed. Supt. S. E. Daw said he delayed the announcement until it could be learned if the buses would be able to get through.

But, by the time it was found that the buses would not be able to travel, many pupils had reported for school. Daw said 75 per cent of those showed up at MacDonald while 100 per cent reported at McKinley. The schools were to have Christmas programs today.

The teachers were told to go ahead with the programs and then dismiss the students. Some pupils also reported at the junior and senior high schools.

There are 1,925 students in the system.

East Palestine's 2,252 public and parochial students were given an early start on the holiday vacation because of the roads.

Other schools closed included Lisbon, Fairfield-Waterford, Leetonia and Columbiana. Salem schools began the regular Christmas holiday today as scheduled.

Schools in Beaver County communities were open today including Midland public and parochial, Southern Beaver County Joint Schools near Hookstown and Western Beaver County in Industry and Ohio Township.

There were some reports of buses hung up on roads in the West-

Fish Acquitted In Murder Of Son-In-Law

Jury Deliberates About 2 Hours In Freeing Salem Man

LISBON — Frank W. Fish, 56-year-old Salem area millworker and farmer, was acquitted late Tuesday afternoon by a Common Pleas Court jury of a second degree murder charge stemming from the slaying of his son-in-law Aug. 3 at the Fish home.

Fish, who had claimed self defense in the shotgun killing of Wyman Capps as the unemployed native of Alabama returned from Salem intoxicated, wept after the verdict was read by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

The panel of 7 men and 5 women began deliberations at 2:10 p. m., and returned about 4. It was given the choices of finding Fish guilty or innocent of second degree murder — which carries life imprisonment — or manslaughter — with a penalty of 1-20 years.

Fish had testified he was in fear of his life and the safety of his family when he shot Capps, 37, from the porch of the S. Egypt Rd. home when the younger man failed to heed his warnings to stay away from the house.

Trial began Dec. 12 for Fish, father of 14, whose daughter, Kathryn, widow of the slain man, testified on his behalf.

Driver With 'Only $2' Gets Respite In Court

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until after Christmas to a cited motorist who said he had only $2 and needed it to help provide Christmas cheer for his wife and three children.

Lester Gamble of Fredericktown made the plea of straitened finances when he appeared on a State Highway Patrol citation accusing him of reckless driving Saturday on Route 170 at Calcutta.

"All the money I have is $2 and I need it for Christmas for my wife and three children," Gamble told the judge. Judge Chertff entered a not guilty plea for the motorist and continued his hearing until Jan. 4 at 9 a. m.

5 Or 6 Feared Killed As Navy Plane Crashes

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP)—A U.S. Navy Neptune patrol bomber crashed into the sea off the southeast tip of Newfoundland today.

Rescue officers said there apparently were no survivors. The plane, a P2V, normally carries a crew of five or six. It was based at the U.S. Navy's base at Argentia, Nfld.

The bomber went down in the Atlantic about 17 miles northeast of Cape Race, Nfld. Rescue planes and ships were dispatched from Argentia.

Refuse Rates Hike Rejected At Wellsville

Council Turns Down Legislation At Third Reading In 4-3 Vote

Legislation calling for an increase in refuse collection rates was turned down on the third and final reading by a 4-3 vote at Wellsville City Council Tuesday night.

It was immediately suggested that a levy be placed on the ballot to support the department and this met opposition from a representative of industry in the audience.

The legislation barely squeeked through on the first and second readings by one vote each time.

Councilman Wilmer Ralston switched his vote from the last meeting, casting a "no" vote, thereby defeating the measure.

Also voting against the ordinance were Councilmen Robert Taggart, Clarence Cartwright and William Stroble. Supporting it were Councilmen Aguin Bowling, Paul Nelson and Donald Miller.

Ralston, who voted "yes" the last time, said he decided to switch after going over the books." This is a service and we cannot force collection of the bills. Over a period of 4½ years, the city has lost $1,479.70, and we will lose about $700 this year," he said.

"The only fair way is to put it on the tax duplicate. I cannot see where it is fair to raise the rates on those who have been faithful in paying. In my opinion, the fault is in the past administration," Ralston said.

Bowling said the money is needed now as the department is running in the red and it would take 4-mills on the tax duplicate." This would be cheaper for me, but what about present and future industry?," he asked, explaining they would have to pay the rate but get no benefits.

Ralston said there are many delinquent water bills and many of these are owed by industries. Nelson said if the service is put on a tax basis, it would take more money than now because of the extra homes that would have to be serviced.

Stroble said the proposed 25-cent monthly increase would cause the city to lose customers, which would offset any gain. Mayor William J. Shoub said "we are just kidding ourselves" by subsidizing the department from the general fund.

"The people are getting less service in some other department when we do this," he said. He added there are 1,800 customers now, "but if it is put on the tax duplicate, some 2,200 homes would have to be serviced. This would mean a 22 per cent increase and would require more men, which would mean more money," he said.

The mayor also pointed out this is the first rate increase proposed since the refuse department was formed in 1953. Wages, expenses

Prisoners Get Probation For Holiday 'Gift'

Four East Liverpool men serving terms in County Jail were released on probation today as a Christmas gift from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Judge Chertoff released the four after having them brought before him from Lisbon by a deputy sheriff, but warned that a new violation of the law will send them back to their cells again. Released were:

Otto Stockdale of W. 8th St., fined a total of $850 and costs and given 2 months in jail Nov. 29 when he pleaded guilty to 2 "numbers" charges.

Charles N. Curry, 715 W. 8th St., who had been in jail since May 16 on fines totaling $750 and costs and two 6-month sentences for driving while intoxicated and operating an auto after his permit was suspended.

Billy Darrell Walls, 1646 Cleveland Ave., sentenced Dec. 12 to a 10-day term and fined $200 and costs for driving while intoxicated and operating an auto without a license.

Wright Heads 'Dimes' Drive For 2nd Year

Nelson V. Wright of W. 4th St. will head the East Liverpool March of Dimes campaign for the second consecutive year, Richard G. Brian, southern county chairman of the drive, announced today.

Wright, associated with the Western & Southern Life Insurance Co., directed the 1960 campaign. The 1961 campaign will begin shortly after New Year's and extend through Jan. 31, Brian said.

Brian also announced that Mrs. Dorothy Crooks of Sturgis Ave. will serve as city chairman of the Mother's March on Polio, the annual door-to-door canvass staged by women volunteers. Her co-chairmen will be Mrs. Betty Anderson of Avondale St., Mrs. Jane Snow of Wyoming Ave. and Mrs. Mossie Martin of Illinois Ave.

Each of the woman is the mother of a child afflicted by polio, Brian pointed out.

Barney Pewter of W. 9th St., a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Military Order of the Cootie, will serve as city chairman of veterans' activities.

As southern county chairman, Brian also will name community chairmen to head the drives in Wellsville and Salineville.

No date has been set for the mother's march, Brian said. Proceeds will be used locally and nationally by the National Foundation, formerly known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Originally devoted to care of polio victims, the national organization has broadened its scope since the Salk vaccine discovery.

Mayor Promises Action

City To Expedite Removal Of Snow Piles Downtown

Although hampered by the usual yearend lack of finances, the street department "will do everything possible to clear streets, crosswalks and parking areas," Mayor Bert H. Goodballet promised today in the wake of winter's first heavy snow.

Meter Regulations Suspended By Snow

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver ordered suspension of parking meter regulations today because of the heavy snow.

"Meter Maids" were instructed not to tag parked autos for overtime violations because of the difficulty many drivers encountered in getting in and out of parking spots. Unless conditions change, the suspension is for today only, the director said.

Street department scrapers will be put to work tonight to remove the heavy accumulation of snow alongside curbs in the business area, the mayor said. After the graders shove it away from the curb, shovel crews will load it into trucks to be hauled away.

Snow removal along curbs is impractical during business hours because the streets are lined with parked cars, he explained. The accumulation is about two feet throughout the business area, built up by snow shoved off sidewalks in front of business places.

"We realize this problem is particularly acute both for shoppers and merchants, as only three shopping days remain before Christmas," the mayor said.

The scrapers were at work this morning on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.," shoving the snow off the busy thoroughfare. Meanwhile, shovel crews were working downtown, removing snow from crosswalks.

Travel was reported difficult on all grades, particularly St. Clair Ave. and Lisbon St. Downbound traffic moved with great caution on both grades this morning. Some upbound traffic was getting through.

A series of traffic tieups was reported. About 8:45, heavy trucks stalled on the Market St. grade had traffic snarled all the way east on E. 3rd St. to the Chester Bridge. About an hour later a tractor-trailer jack-knifed on Dresden Ave. at Webber Way, snarling traffic. An abandoned car was holding

Broad Areas Of Nation Hit By Snow, Cold

By The Associated Press

Blustery, snowy and cold weather ushered in the winter season today from the eastern Rockies into the Northeast.

The snowstorm which buffeted the Midwest, with foot-high falls in some areas, spread into the Ohio Valley during the night, dumping heavy snow in many areas.

Powered by strong winds, the storm headed eastward into western and central parts of the mid-Atlantic seaboard states and extended eastward over the Great Lakes region and southwestward through the Ohio Valley.

At least nine deaths were attributed to the stormy weather, which erupted in the Plains and spread eastward rapidly. The storm deaths included five in Ohio, three in Illinois and one in Missouri.

The broad blanket of snow in the Midwest, plus strong shifting winds and sharp drops in temperatures, made it look and feel like midwinter before the official arrival of winter at 3:27 p.m. EST today.

Numbing cold gripped the north central region as the mercury plunged below zero across the snow-covered sections of the midlands. The cold air dipped southward into Texas and the Gulf Coast.

It was 13 below zero in Aberdeen, S. D., and the subzero sting was felt in northern Illinois with 2 below in Rockford, Chicago, covered with a record prewinter snow carpet of 12½ inches, shivered in near-zero readings.

Wright Heads 'Dimes' Drive For 2nd Year

Nelson V. Wright of W. 4th St. will head the East Liverpool March of Dimes campaign for the second consecutive year, Richard G. Brian, southern county chairman of the drive, announced today.

Wright, associated with the Western & Southern Life Insurance Co., directed the 1960 campaign. The 1961 campaign will begin shortly after New Year's and extend through Jan. 31, Brian said.

Brian also announced that Mrs. Dorothy Crooks of Sturgis Ave. will serve as city chairman of the Mother's March on Polio, the annual door-to-door canvass staged by women volunteers. Her co-chairmen will be Mrs. Betty Anderson of Avondale St., Mrs. Jane Snow of Wyoming Ave. and Mrs. Mossie Martin of Illinois Ave.

Barney Pewter of W. 9th St., a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Military Order of the Cootie, will serve as city chairman of veterans' activities.

As southern county chairman, Brian also will name community chairmen to head the drives in Wellsville and Salineville.

No date has been set for the mother's march, Brian said. Proceeds will be used locally and nationally by the National Foundation, formerly known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Originally devoted to care of polio victims, the national organization has broadened its scope since the Salk vaccine discovery.

Mayor Promises Action

City To Expedite Removal Of Snow Piles Downtown

Although hampered by the usual yearend lack of finances, the street department "will do everything possible to clear streets, crosswalks and parking areas," Mayor Bert H. Goodballet promised today in the wake of winter's first heavy snow.

Meter Regulations Suspended By Snow

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver ordered suspension of parking meter regulations today because of the heavy snow.

"Meter Maids" were instructed not to tag parked autos for overtime violations because of the difficulty many drivers encountered in getting in and out of parking spots. Unless conditions change, the suspension is for today only, the director said.

Street department scrapers will be put to work tonight to remove the heavy accumulation of snow alongside curbs in the business area, the mayor said. After the graders shove it away from the curb, shovel crews will load it into trucks to be hauled away.

Snow removal along curbs is impractical during business hours because the streets are lined with parked cars, he explained. The accumulation is about two feet throughout the business area, built up by snow shoved off sidewalks in front of business places.

"We realize this problem is particularly acute both for shoppers and merchants, as only three shopping days remain before Christmas," the mayor said.

The scrapers were at work this morning on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.," shoving the snow off the busy thoroughfare. Meanwhile, shovel crews were working downtown, removing snow from crosswalks.

Travel was reported difficult on all grades, particularly St. Clair Ave. and Lisbon St. Downbound traffic moved with great caution on both grades this morning. Some upbound traffic was getting through.

A series of traffic tieups was reported. About 8:45, heavy trucks stalled on the Market St. grade had traffic snarled all the way east on E. 3rd St. to the Chester Bridge. About an hour later a tractor-trailer jack-knifed on Dresden Ave. at Webber Way, snarling traffic. An abandoned car was holding

Broad Areas Of Nation Hit By Snow, Cold

By The Associated Press

Blustery, snowy and cold weather ushered in the winter season today from the eastern Rockies into the Northeast.

The snowstorm which buffeted the Midwest, with foot-high falls in some areas, spread into the Ohio Valley during the night, dumping heavy snow in many areas.

Powered by strong winds, the storm headed eastward into western and central parts of the mid-Atlantic seaboard states and extended eastward over the Great Lakes region and southwestward through the Ohio Valley.

At least nine deaths were attributed to the stormy weather, which erupted in the Plains and spread eastward rapidly. The storm deaths included five in Ohio, three in Illinois and one in Missouri.

The broad blanket of snow in the Midwest, plus strong shifting winds and sharp drops in temperatures, made it look and feel like midwinter before the official arrival of winter at 3:27 p.m. EST today.

Numbing cold gripped the north central region as the mercury plunged below zero across the snow-covered sections of the midlands. The cold air dipped southward into Texas and the Gulf Coast.

It was 13 below zero in Aberdeen, S. D., and the subzero sting was felt in northern Illinois with 2 below in Rockford, Chicago, covered with a record prewinter snow carpet of 12½ inches, shivered in near-zero readings.

'Pocket-Size Revolt' Crushed In Venezuela

The insurrection was led by a lieutenant of 20 men. The rebel leader, identified officially as Lt. Lizardo Marquez Perez, took by surprise one of the national guard posts which dominate the port of Aguaira, 10 miles from Caracas.

Time For A Second Look

Introduction of legislation to abolish the new Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development already has been promised for the 1961 session of the General Assembly.

Whatever the Legislature's ultimate decision will be, the bill will provide an opportunity for reviewing the department's work and taking a second look at this approach to fostering Oh economic growth.

No one doubts the importance of promoting the state's economy and keeping abreast of other states' activities in the competition for new business.

But there are doubts in the minds of some people closely associated with industrial development that the new department is worth the money being spent on it.

FOR INSTANCE, much of the department's activity duplicates work already being done effectively by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and hundreds of other groups dedicated to industrial development in Ohio. The research and development branches of the Ohio Chamber often supply especially excellent services.

It is true that the state agency was designed to coordinate rather than replace the activities of private groups. But the disadvantage here is that the department, necessarily restricted from showing any favoritism among various sites in the state for potential incoming businesses, must tread so lightly that it may be ineffective when an aggressive, "hard sell" technique is demanded.

Some of the people concerned with economic development believe that the state government's most effective role is to publicize and promote Ohio's advantages on a general basis. They believe the specific contacts should be left to the private groups already geared to sell their areas' special qualities.

THEY FAVOR, therefore, a return to the approach embodied in the Economic Development and Publicity Commission, which was replaced by the present department. The commission operated on a budget considerably smaller than the nearly one-million dollars appropriated for the department during the current biennium.

This view, of course, is not unanimous. Neither is it partisan. There are legislators of both parties who believe the department is unnecessary and there are legislators of both parties who feel that a state of Ohio's importance should have an industrial department of cabinet status.

That is why it will be a wise move for the General Assembly to assess the accomplishments and the failures of the Department of Industrial and Economic Development during the last year. If a change is deemed to be in order, it should be made.

A Season Of Affliction

This time it was a great aircraft carrier, the Constellation . . .

There had come upon the land a season of affliction.

Storms of snow swept down upon the huddled masses and held them under a blanket of stillness.

Mighty ships caught fire in the betrayed safety of snug harbors and claimed the lives of dozens of innocent, helpless men.

On the mountains, in the valleys and across the wide plains men, women and children paused in their enjoyment of the gayest time of the year to muse, wide-eyed and conscience-stricken.

What had they done to deserve such retribution?

What did it signify that the sound of laughter would be heard not at all this Christmas in so many homes?

What would it mean to bereaved families to see vacant chairs where the presence of loved ones had been canceled by violent death?

And, finally, what did it teach a dynamic society of free people that the complexity of its affairs could add so much destruction of life, property and well-being to the violence of the natural world?

Had men indeed strayed so far that they had lost touch with a security that once could be broken only by floods and storms?

Was the ultimate holocaust of thermonuclear destruction no more than an ultimate theoretical danger, never to materialize, while hosts of smaller real dangers crowded in on mankind, waiting for "something to go wrong," something that might one day wipe out a city, or a whole land, through an accident of man-made circumstance?

This ruse fooled us so completely that we inadvertently supplied a scenario for an uprising against Haile Selassie — to have the aging emperor leave the country for a state visit so his son could seize power and confront his father with a fait accompli.

The cleverness of the plot would be in its effect on the people of Ethiopia, who would have a young ruler without any undue bloodshed. The whole thing would have meen carried out with the knowledge and consent of the old ruler, who knows that the toughest thing he must do before his death is to arrange for a successor to the throne.

The psychology behind it would be sound, moreover. Ethiopians are going to have a ruler one way or another, and this could be another, and this would be another way. Once they had a ruler, they would quit thinking about getting another one. We thought it would be a slick way for the aging emperor to tie down his throne, and we still do. But we jumped the gun.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Last night's bad dream was that there was a revolt in the kingdom of Santa Claus and that Santa and his reindeer had asked U.N. for help. Sleighs belonging to him were being overturned and set on fire.

Students were prominent in the disturbances, posing for TV shaking fists at representatives of the old gentlemen. Comet and Dancer had been hit by rocks. Donder and Blitzen were reported "beat up" in their stable by agitators. (Somehow the dream didn't seem too unreal, since such disturbances are going on everywhere.)

In one part of the nightmare we saw a mob setting fire to books containing "A Visit From St. Nicholas." Several Americans whose last names were Moore were pummeled for no other reason than that they might be descendants of Clement Clarke Moore, author of the Yuletide verse.

The disturbances began when a man reciting the poem reached the lines, "His eyes, how they twinkled, his dimples, how merry! His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry."

This brought hoots from forces opposed to Santa Claus, led by a Soviet agent who declared only capitalists, warmongers, impudent colonialists and their subversive henchmen pictured Santa this way.

"Santa is a villainous agent of Wall Street," the man yelled. This touched off further rioting in which two more reindeer, Prancer and Vixen were hit by rocks. Shots were fired when an Englishman took up the Clement Moore poem and the lines, "He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf." He was dragged through the streets by a crowd bearing banners "Moon rockets, yes; Kris Kringles, no."

Santa appealed to U.N. at once. By an overwhelming majority Santa was voted the joy of childhood, with India and 14 others abstaining. We woke up when a Soviet speaker blamed everything on Dag Hammarskjold and announced that Soviet shells would fall on anybody hanging up a sock.

IF SEN. KEFAUVER wins the fight for government control of prizefighting it should furnish material for a hit musical comedy. Federal Bureau to Purify Boxing at work might, in fact, be more amusing and interesting on TV than fights are.

A NEW FIGHT against immoral pictures by the Catholic Bishop's Committee on Movies is far from the routine annual pledge of past years. All-out war, with no further taking of Legion of Decency pledge as a mere form, is the keynote of churchmen from pulpits, deploring halfhearted co-operation by flocks. Bishop's statement declared Hollywood outpouring of salacious films is at an all-time high and that one out of every four are now morally degrading to the young.

"Routine renewal of a pledge is no longer enough," warned the Catholic press, calling on millions of Catholics for a dedicated commitment to battle evil movies for keeps and no holds barred.

The Perilous Era Of Auto-mation

Bob Kennedy's Ready For A Fight

By Victor Riesel

Those who have had one of the chicken-sandwich-and-milk luncheons with Robert Kennedy can tell you he was named attorney general because he is "an activist." He was not chosen attorney general merely to duel with James Hoffa. He will take on the combine which has wrapped its brass - knuckled hands around every dollar-making operation from boxing and narcotics to defense material and labor rackets. What has gotten into his blood is hatred for the arrogant ones who have sat before him and spat on the government.

Victor Riesel

Only the other day, for example, Sen. Kefauver followed one of Bob Kennedy's leads and went after a boxing racket crowd which the "Tennessean" said was "as vicious a group of racketeers as ever appeared."

Among them was St. Louis' Johnny Vitale who never gets the blues over such press notices. Vitale is the kind that has put that grim look on Bob Kennedy's face.

VITALE is the combine personified. When Kennedy had him on the witness stand on Aug. 19, 1958, the manicured mobster obliged with only rare answers.

One came when Chairman McClellan told him, "You will help us a little I believe, and you too, if you would take that gum out of your mouth."

For a flash Vitale was a voluble witness. "It," he said slowly "isn't gum. It's peppermint."

But soon Bob Kennedy asked him:

"Do you have any individuals on your payroll that are involved in distributing narcotics and in murder where it is necessary?"

This time the tartness was not in the peppermint. The reply was: "I decline to answer on the grounds that I might tend to incriminate myself."

Then, in the light of current news, came a series of questions which should be of interest to those who want to know what sort of reaction permanently angered Washington's most energetic "young man."

"Have you been responsible for any murders yourself?"

"You went in business together with Barney Baker, did you?"

FOR THE UNINITIATED, Mr. Baker recently convicted of extortion, has been a representative of the Teamsters International office.

"And he invested," asked Kennedy, $15,500 in the cement business with you?"

"Could you tell us what Mr. Barney Baker was doing in St. Louis when he was associated with you?"

"Did you have anything to do with Baker's activities in Wichita or Kansas City in behalf of the teamsters union?"

"What connection do you have the the teamsters union?"

To all these questions Johnny Vitale said that a reply might tend to incriminate him.

Earlier in the session that day there were a few more statements which might fascinate the ubiquitously curious. Such as: "Mr. Vitale, you have been identified by an agent from the Bureau of Narcotics as one of the leading narcotics figure in the St. Louis area. . . .And you have also been identified by Capt. Dougherty as head of the syndicate in the St. Louis area."

VITALE DECLINED to reply on the familiar grounds.

They asked him if he was in the "cab business," novelties, nightclubs, cement, the fight business and in the distribution of juke boxes and pinball machines.

It was a wide range of professions. The replies always narrowed to the Fifth Amendment.

There was the moment when Kennedy observed: "We have information that you have a piece of some fighters at the present time. Is that right? And you have a piece of two fighters at least, one a light heavyweight fighter and another a heavyweight contender, is that correct?"

"And both of these in a period of time had been on the payroll of the Vitale Cement Co.?"

Again the Fifth. But this bit led him back into the headlines when Sen. Kefauver broke open the fight racket again the other day.

It's these interlocking enterprises —and a thousand similar networks —which have turned Bob Kennedy into the fightingest bantam in the investigatory business. It will take much of his time in the attorney general's office.

Lots Of Action Expected

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — President-elect John F. Kennedy has picked a 10-man Cabinet in his own image: It's conservative-liberal and hard-driving. Therefore, a lot of action can be expected from the new administration.

The incoming Cabinet differs from President Eisenhower's first Cabinet of 1953 in two obvious ways: Eisenhower's was much more conservative, and Kennedy's is far more scholarly.

While action can be expected from the new administration, it does not—judging from the records of Kennedy himself and his hand-picked top 10 men—figure to be of the startling kind.

There is a basic difference between the Kennedy administration and Eisenhower's: The new one is already committed to having the government take a stronger hand in American life than Eisenhower favored.

For example, the five - point plan on which Kennedy Tuesday said he will seek quick congressional action: federal aid to education, raising the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25, a program for medical care for the aged tied to Social Security, expansion of federal aid to housing, and help for depressed areas.

None of the five points is new or startling. Kennedy promised them all in his campaign. All would put the fingers of the government deeper into American life.

Some may not like the thought of this, but those fingers have been going deeper year by year as the American society becomes more complex and interdependent.

There is an explanation why the Kennedy Cabinet should be conservative-liberal stead of extremely liberal or wholly conservative.

This is not a time of acute distress, requiring extreme and sudden remedies as was the case with President Roosevelt's early New Deal when innovations were needed to cope with the depression and bring America up to date.

Kennedy, like Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, is both conservative and liberal. He would hardly pick a Cabinet which reflected anything but his own views. Eisenhower's Cabinet represented his own conservative thinking.

None of Kennedy's Cabinet has unusual national stature, such as Adlai E. Stevenson has. Thus Kennedy, who never left any doubt in the campaign he would be the boss, figures to be dominant in his administration or in any disagreement with a Cabinet member.

It is perhaps significant he put Stevenson in a secondary role as American ambassador to the United Nations. Stevenson, with a large following here and abroad and aware of it, might have created a national problem for the new president if the two men disagreed.

None of the 10 Cabinet members—including Kennedy's brother, Robert, the new attorney general—has been a very controversial figure. With the exception of Robert Kennedy, who sometimes gets fiery, the Cabinet members have a pretty subdued public record.

The reason for that appears to be this: All of them, whether their experience was in government or business or politics, have been managers trying to get things done. Therefore, starting out, the Kennedy administration should be able to run smoothly.

Public Notice

Off one of the well known New England costal resorts lies a fairly large island which has a good sized summer colony. This colony has been in existence for more than 75 years. Many of the descendants of the founders still spend their summers there.

The island is described as the oldest summer settlement in the region. The Maine Guide says it "is like a small city during the summer months; in the winter it is inhabited only by caretakers." The island was visited by an English explorer as early as 1605.

But even such a place has community interests that must be served. To do this there is a corporation with a board of overseers. There is also a town office.

The point of all this was a letter in the region newspaper from a man who threatened legal action against the overseers. It seems that he was unable to see the island records. He complained that as far as he knew, "We are the only Town or Village in Maine which is run by absent treatments from Boston."

It is a prime rule in American government that public records with certain exceptions are open to the public. In this respect the public record is closely akin to the public notice. Both are intended to keep the public informed about public business. And it is part of the bona fide newspaper's function to publish such notices so that "The public may know," as it has a right.

Political Obligations

By David Lawrence

Cabinet Selections Raise A Question

Politics — with its subtle, and sometimes not so subtle, obligations — is responsible for the selection of eight out of ten of the Cabinet of President - elect Kennedy. This proportion is a throwback to the days of McKinley, though every president in this century has chosen some members of his Cabinet with due deference to political factors.

David Lawrence

So far as the country is concerned, it can ask itself whether in the entire nation — or in the Democratic party itself — there wasn't someone so outstanding and experienced in his field that he might better have been picked than the announced selection for attorney-general or for the post of secretary of health, education and welfare or for the secretaryship of the treasury or for postmaster general or for the top posts in the department of labor and commerce, respectively.

As for the departments of agriculture and interior, it is customary, of course, to nominate men who will satisfy political interests in the Middle West and Far West. The public, however, has the impression when a presidential nominee promises during his campaign to select the best men in the land — a "ministry of the best available talent" — that the pledge will be kept after election.

MR. KENNEDY may not be blamed so much perhaps for following political precedent because it can be argued in justification that this is what has been done in the past. On that point, at least, the new liberals in command aren't so contemptuous of the past as they so often boasted during the recent campaign.

The truth is that a presidential nominee does incur obligations when he seeks electoral votes, and he knows that people generally gloss over charges of conflict of interest afterwards as he pays off his political debts at the expense of the public interest.

It isn't always a campaign contribution or a special piece of political service by a particular individual that causes politics to be given preference over efficiency and ability. Often it is the big contributors or their friends or the politicians themselves who put up names for the president - elect to choose from and he doesn't like to turn down the loyal friends who recommend someone to him.

Sometimes a president picks a Cabinet officer or two from the opposite political party. This is hailed as bipartisan. But it is a piece of political hokum. Actually, those selected for the Cabinet aren't the ones who were prominent in the defeated party — individuals who campaigned before the people and expressed themselves on current issues.

Usually men picked for the Cabinet from the opposing party are of the flexible kind — they go along with the new chief executive even though sometimes incurring the hostility of members of their own party.

THE IDEA, to be sure, in picking a couple of Cabinet members from the opposite party, is to give the appearance of bipartisanship. If, indeed, there had been any real desire to retain the experience of a valuable man in a predecessor administration, it would have been better to have kept Secretary of the Treasury Anderson on the job.

Incidentally, he himself was a Democrat selected by President Eisenhower because, as a Texan of prominence, Mr. Anderson was expected to get and did have the cooperation of House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson.

When President Roosevelt, during World War II, put Frank Knox, vice-presidential nominee in 1936 on the Republican ticket, into the Cabinet as secretary of the navy and Henry L. Stimson, onetime Republican candidate for governor of New York, in the post of secretary of war, the Republicans at that time did not feel, any more than they do today, that they had a representative of their point of view in the president's councils.

The Cabinet as a whole is not accountable to either political party but to the president alone. The heads of the departments are his obedient assistants. That's the present system. It is autocratic rather than democratic.

Until it is changed and the whole Cabinet, along with the chief executive, is directly responsible to the people, as it is in Canada and other English - speaking countries, there will be a tendency to continue to let a president pick anybody he chooses for his Cabinet either to pay political debts or to placate political factions.

Introduction of legislation to abolish the new Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development already has been promised for the 1961 session of the General Assembly.

Whatever the Legislature's ultimate decision will be, the bill will provide an opportunity for reviewing the department's work and taking a second look at this approach to fostering Oh economic growth.

No one doubts the importance of promoting the state's economy and keeping abreast of other states' activities in the competition for new business.

But there are doubts in the minds of some people closely associated with industrial development that the new department is worth the money being spent on it.

FOR INSTANCE, much of the department's activity duplicates work already being done effectively by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and hundreds of other groups dedicated to industrial development in Ohio. The research and development branches of the Ohio Chamber often supply especially excellent services.

It is true that the state agency was designed to coordinate rather than replace the activities of private groups. But the disadvantage here is that the department, necessarily restricted from showing any favoritism among various sites in the state for potential incoming businesses, must tread so lightly that it may be ineffective when an aggressive, "hard sell" technique is demanded.

Some of the people concerned with economic development believe that the state government's most effective role is to publicize and promote Ohio's advantages on a general basis. They believe the specific contacts should be left to the private groups already geared to sell their areas' special qualities.

THEY FAVOR, therefore, a return to the approach embodied in the Economic Development and Publicity Commission, which was replaced by the present department. The commission operated on a budget considerably smaller than the nearly one-million dollars appropriated for the department during the current biennium.

This view, of course, is not unanimous. Neither is it partisan. There are legislators of both parties who believe the department is unnecessary and there are legislators of both parties who feel that a state of Ohio's importance should have an industrial department of cabinet status.

That is why it will be a wise move for the General Assembly to assess the accomplishments and the failures of the Department of Industrial and Economic Development during the last year. If a change is deemed to be in order, it should be made.

But soon Bob Kennedy asked him:

"Do you have any individuals on your payroll that are involved in distributing narcotics and in murder where it is necessary?"

This time the tartness was not in the peppermint. The reply was: "I decline to answer on the grounds that I might tend to incriminate myself."

Then, in the light of current news, came a series of questions which should be of interest to those who want to know what sort of reaction permanently angered Washington's most energetic "young man."

"Have you been responsible for any murders yourself?"

"You went in business together with Barney Baker, did you?"

FOR THE UNINITIATED, Mr. Baker recently convicted of extortion, has been a representative of the Teamsters International office.

"And he invested," asked Kennedy, $15,500 in the cement business with you?"

"Could you tell us what Mr. Barney Baker was doing in St. Louis when he was associated with you?"

"Did you have anything to do with Baker's activities in Wichita or Kansas City in behalf of the teamsters union?"

"What connection do you have the the teamsters union?"

To all these questions Johnny Vitale said that a reply might tend to incriminate him.

Earlier in the session that day there were a few more statements which might fascinate the ubiquitously curious. Such as: "Mr. Vitale, you have been identified by an agent from the Bureau of Narcotics as one of the leading narcotics figure in the St. Louis area. . . .And you have also been identified by Capt. Dougherty as head of the syndicate in the St. Louis area."

VITALE DECLINED to reply on the familiar grounds.

They asked him if he was in the "cab business," novelties, nightclubs, cement, the fight business and in the distribution of juke boxes and pinball machines.

It was a wide range of professions. The replies always narrowed to the Fifth Amendment.

There was the moment when Kennedy observed: "We have information that you have a piece of some fighters at the present time. Is that right? And you have a piece of two fighters at least, one a light heavyweight fighter and another a heavyweight contender, is that correct?"

"And both of these in a period of time had been on the payroll of the Vitale Cement Co.?"

Again the Fifth. But this bit led him back into the headlines when Sen. Kefauver broke open the fight racket again the other day.

It's these interlocking enterprises —and a thousand similar networks —which have turned Bob Kennedy into the fightingest bantam in the investigatory business. It will take much of his time in the attorney general's office.

Lots Of Action Expected

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON President-elect John F. Kennedy has picked a 10-man Cabinet in his own image: It's conservative-liberal and hard-driving. Therefore, a lot of action can be expected from the new administration.

The incoming Cabinet differs from President Eisenhower's first Cabinet of 1953 in two obvious ways: Eisenhower's was much more conservative, and Kennedy's is far more scholarly.

While action can be expected from the new administration, it does not—judging from the records of Kennedy himself and his hand-picked top 10 men—figure to be of the startling kind.

There is a basic difference between the Kennedy administration and Eisenhower's: The new one is already committed to having the government take a stronger hand in American life than Eisenhower favored.

For example, the five-point plan on which Kennedy Tuesday said he will seek quick congressional action: federal aid to education, raising the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25, a program for medical care for the aged tied to Social Security, expansion of federal aid to housing, and help for depressed areas.

None of the five points is new or startling. Kennedy promised them all in his campaign. All would put the fingers of the government deeper into American life.

Some may not like the thought of this, but those fingers have been going deeper year by year as the American society becomes more complex and interdependent.

There is an explanation why the Kennedy Cabinet should be conservative-liberal stead of extremely liberal or wholly conservative.

This is not a time of acute distress, requiring extreme and sudden remedies as was the case with President Roosevelt's early New Deal when innovations were needed to cope with the depression and bring America up to date.

Kennedy, like Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, is both conservative and liberal. He would hardly pick a Cabinet which reflected anything but his own views. Eisenhower's Cabinet represented his own conservative thinking.

None of Kennedy's Cabinet has unusual national stature, such as Adlai E. Stevenson has. Thus Kennedy, who never left any doubt in the campaign he would be the boss, figures to be dominant in his administration or in any disagreement with a Cabinet member.

It is perhaps significant he put Stevenson in a secondary role as American ambassador to the United Nations. Stevenson, with a large following here and abroad and aware of it, might have created a national problem for the new president if the two men disagreed.

None of the 10 Cabinet members—including Kennedy's brother, Robert, the new attorney general—has been a very controversial figure. With the exception of Robert Kennedy, who sometimes gets fiery, the Cabinet members have a pretty subdued public record.

The reason for that appears to be this: All of them, whether their experience was in government or business or politics, have been managers trying to get things done. Therefore, starting out, the Kennedy administration should be able to run smoothly.

Public Notice

Off one of the well known New England costal resorts lies a fairly large island which has a good sized summer colony. This colony has been in existence for more than 75 years. Many of the descendants of the founders still spend their summers there.

The island is described as the oldest summer settlement in the region. The Maine Guide says it "is like a small city during the summer months; in the winter it is inhabited only by caretakers." The island was visited by an English explorer as early as 1605.

But even such a place has community interests that must be served. To do this there is a corporation with a board of overseers. There is also a town office.

The point of all this was a letter in the region newspaper from a man who threatened legal action against the overseers. It seems that he was unable to see the island records. He complained that as far as he knew, "We are the only Town or Village in Maine which is run by absent treatments from Boston."

It is a prime rule in American government that public records with certain exceptions are open to the public. In this respect the public record is closely akin to the public notice. Both are intended to keep the public informed about public business. And it is part of the bona fide newspaper's function to publish such notices so that "The public may know," as it has a right.

Political Obligations

By David Lawrence

Cabinet Selections Raise A Question

Politics — with its subtle, and sometimes not so subtle, obligations — is responsible for the selection of eight out of ten of the Cabinet of President-elect Kennedy. This proportion is a throwback to the days of McKinley, though every president in this century has chosen some members of his Cabinet with due deference to political factors.

David Lawrence

So far as the country is concerned, it can ask itself whether in the entire nation — or in the Democratic party itself — there wasn't someone so outstanding and experienced in his field that he might better have been picked than the announced selection for attorney-general or for the post of secretary of health, education and welfare or for the secretaryship of the treasury or for postmaster general or for the top posts in the department of labor and commerce, respectively.

As for the departments of agriculture and interior, it is customary, of course, to nominate men who will satisfy political interests in the Middle West and Far West. The public, however, has the impression when a presidential nominee promises during his campaign to select the best men in the land — a "ministry of the best available talent" — that the pledge will be kept after election.

MR. KENNEDY may not be blamed so much perhaps for following political precedent because it can be argued in justification that this is what has been done in the past. On that point, at least, the new liberals in command aren't so contemptuous of the past as they so often boasted during the recent campaign.

The truth is that a presidential nominee does incur obligations when he seeks electoral votes, and he knows that people generally gloss over charges of conflict of interest afterwards as he pays off his political debts at the expense of the public interest.

It isn't always a campaign contribution or a special piece of political service by a particular individual that causes politics to be given preference over efficiency and ability. Often it is the big contributors or their friends or the politicians themselves who put up names for the president - elect to choose from and he doesn't like to turn down the loyal friends who recommend someone to him.

Sometimes a president picks a Cabinet officer or two from the opposite political party. This is hailed as bipartisan. But it is a piece of political hokum. Actually, those selected for the Cabinet aren't the ones who were prominent in the defeated party — individuals who campaigned before the people and expressed themselves on current issues.

Usually men picked for the Cabinet from the opposing party are of the flexible kind — they go along with the new chief executive even though sometimes incurring the hostility of members of their own party.

THE IDEA, to be sure, in picking a couple of Cabinet members from the opposite party, is to give the appearance of bipartisanship. If, indeed, there had been any real desire to retain the experience of a valuable man in a predecessor administration, it would have been better to have kept Secretary of the Treasury Anderson on the job.

Incidentally, he himself was a Democrat selected by President Eisenhower because, as a Texan of prominence, Mr. Anderson was expected to get and did have the cooperation of House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson.

When President Roosevelt, during World War II, put Frank Knox, vice-presidential nominee in 1936 on the Republican ticket, into the Cabinet as secretary of the navy and Henry L. Stimson, onetime Republican candidate for governor of New York, in the post of secretary of war, the Republicans at that time did not feel, any more than they do today, that they had a representative of their point of view in the president's councils.

The Cabinet as a whole is not accountable to either political party but to the president alone. The heads of the departments are his obedient assistants. That's the present system. It is autocratic rather than democratic.

Until it is changed and the whole Cabinet, along with the chief executive, is directly responsible to the people, as it is in Canada and other English - speaking countries, there will be a tendency to continue to let a president pick anybody he chooses for his Cabinet either to pay political debts or to placate political factions.

The choice of his brother Robert to be his attorney general strikes me as one of John F. Rotarians Go For Sub 'Trip' Via Navy Officer's Address

The Rotary Club was treated to vicarious adventure aboard the USS Trigger, a unit of Submarine Squadron 4 out of Charleston, S. C., at its meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Travelers Hotel.

An officer's life aboard the underwater craft — dangerous and exciting during war but mostly routine and dull during peacetime maneuvers — was described by Lt. (j.g.) Dan Cooper, a 1957 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Son of Atty. and Mrs. William B. Cooper of Orchard Grove Ave., Lt. Cooper recently returned from North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) maneuvers in the Atlantic near England aboard the snorkel-equipped craft.

As gunnery officer on the "Trigger," Lt. Cooper supervises the ship's torpedo room. Movies, letter writing and card games take up most of the crew's time. "The chow is the best in the Navy," the young officer declared.

The "Trigger," commissoned March 31, 1952, was able to remain submerged for three to four weeks at a time during the mammoth NATO exercise by employing its snorkel "breathing" device.

Living is "cramped" aboard the craft, Lt. Cooper said, pointing out the ship is 277 feet long and filled with modern equipment from forward-aft.

The snorkel enables the submarine to receive air without surfacing farther than periscope depth. The "Trigger" is streamlined and stripped of deck guns for maximum speed, the officer said.

More modern atomic powered subs like the "Nautilus" or "Skipjack" are able to remain submerged for longer periods. The submarine "Triton" traveled around the world underwater last year, Lt. Cooper said, in pointing out the progress being made in design and type of equipment.

The "Trigger's" complement consists of about 80 officers and men and all were required to attend special courses at the Submarine School in New London, Conn.

The officers' training program is particularly intensive, Lt. Cooper said. Candidates first work for six months on jobs normally assigned enlisted personnel during surfacing and submerging. This is followed by a year of duty aboard a sub during which officers must compile a huge, 13-chapter notebook. Examinations then are required for officers before they are assigned to duty. The enlisted men's school is only six weeks, but they must qualify for duty in six months.

On its "NATO" exercise, the "Trigger" and other underwater craft simulated attacks on surface craft in testing electronic detection devices.

Design of submarines has progressed rapidly since the first submarine was introduced in England as a make-shift rowboat in 1620, Lt. Cooper explained. The Navy purchased its first submarine in 1900, and had acquired 25 by World War I.

By World War II, the Navy's underwater fleet had grown to 300 ships. With only 5 per cent of Navy personnel in the fleet, the subs sank 55 per cent of enemy shipping.

"By the end of the war, the submarine's task was not only to fire on enemy ships, but to rescue sailors, make weather and intelligence reports and plant mines," Lt. Cooper said.

He was introduced by Atty. Don Shay, program chairman. George Hargraves, president, presided.

Lowest Steel Output Since Late '30s Due

NEW YORK (AP) — Iron Age Magazine today said next week will see the lowest steel tonnage produced in a non - strike week since the late 1930s.

The week is a holiday week.

The metalworking publication said, "Many mills will shut down completely between the two holidays (Christmas and New Year), and most will curtail operations over the weekends.

"The outlook for January is mixed. Compared with a dismal December, it will reflect a fair upturn and the mills are getting an optimistic playback from January orders.

"Sheets, plates, structurals and tinplate are expected to be better in the first month of 1961.

"At the same time, cutbacks in January orders by Chrysler Corp. will hurt. The automaker is taking some 57,000 cars out of its first quarter production schedules, and held up releases of steel orders for two weeks pending clarification of the cutback."

The magazine said spending for new plants and equipment metalworking companies will continue at reduced levels throughout the first half of 1961.

China, with an average of 23 million a year, leads the world in "baby production".

Japan's Prosperity Expected To Continue

TOKYO (AP)—Japan will continue to ride a high tide of prosperity next year, but the spectacular gains of recent years in production, exports and other signs of growth will flatten out, the Economic Planning Agency said today.

The agency's annual report will guide Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda in drawing up his economic blueprint for 1961.

A combination of circumstances, including a cutback in U. S. dollar spending abroad and a slackening of world trade, account for the expected leveling off in the rates of gain.

Heavy Snow Staggers Area

ern Beaver Area. The majority of buses made it through in the South Side area.

Beaver Local School District's over 2,200 students started their Christmas holiday a day earlier when George VanHorne, executive head, canceled classes because of road conditions.

VanHorne made a check of roads about 6:30, finding main arteries passable but secondary highways drifted deep so he notified bus drivers and school personnel.

Pupils at the district's 6 buildings will return Jan. 3.

A gift exchange and Christmas dinner slated for Southern Local students was postponed until January as a result of today's closing.

The 1,050 pupils were to have their holiday programs today, but the gifts will now be exchanged Jan. 3 when classes resume and the chicken dinner will be held Jan. 5, Jack Baker, executive head, announced.

Baker said a check with school bus drivers about 5:45 disclosed back roads were drifted in many places, and he ordered classes suspended at the five buildings.

Highway crews quit cindering early Tuesday afternoon and hooked plow attachments in attempts to keep main roads open but blustery winds caused drifting, especially on the north and south routes in Columbiana County.

Because of the direction of the wind, which ranged in velocity from 10 to 15 mph., with gusts of 20 to 25, the east and west roads remained relatively free of drifts.

The Ohio Valley got about 7 inches of snow, the rural areas up to 10 inches. The back-county fall equalled the amount of snow that had fallen since Nov. 30 in seven storms. There were two previous "measurable" snows — 2 inches Dec. 1 and 3 on Dec. 11. The others ranged from half an inch to 1 inch.

The snow began about mid-morning yesterday, not dense but falling steadily. The storm was in two parts, according to Dam 7 at Midland, which recorded the first fall from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., and the second from 5:10 p. m. until 7 a. m. today when it tapered into flurries. The dam recorded 7 inches on top of an inch from earlier storms.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, reported 5 inches and the State Highway Department garage at Leetonia wrote 10 inches into its daily records.

The entire force of over 18 crews were put on the roads by the Leetonia garage and the men kept their plows going through the night. "The roads snowed in as soon as we plowed them," an official said, requiring continuous trips over some sections.

Main highways in the area, such as Routes 30, 7 and 170, are snow covered but passable, the Ohio Highway Patrol post at Lisbon said, but secondary roads are generally closed for travel except for vehicles with chains.

The patrol said no accident reports had been received overnight, and only one major tieup occurred this morning, that briefly on Route 14 at Millville Hill near Salem.

Traffic was moving slowly but steadily, officers said.

County roads are reported in passable condition and should remain so unless increasing winds causing drifting John (Dick) Neil of the county road department said.

Adding to motorists' woes, the snow covered ice remaining from the weekend storm, which brought 2 inches.

Motorists workbound from the suburbs this morning found state and federal highways and many county and township roads in good condition, as they had been traversed earlier by snow plows.

In the East Liverpool area, main highways such as Routes 7 and 30, 267 and 170—as well as most major county and township thoroughfares — had been cleared by snowplows at daylight. Motorists found the going easy, as only an inch or so of packed snow covered the pavements.

East Liverpool street department crews worked throughout the night, spreading ashes and salt and clearing intersections and sidewalks.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville said all the primary roads in its area have been plowed by the Jefferson County Highway Department. Driving is slow and hazardous but the main roads were starting to melt as the highway crews also spread salt. The crews worked through the night, officers said. Patrolmen said very few accidents have been reported and all have been minor.

The night was long and sleepless for about 31 workers from the Pughtown Garage of the West Virginia State Road Commission.

All crews reported for work at 7:30 Tuesday night and still were on the job this morning scraping, plowing and ashing both primary and secondary roads in Hancock County.

The garage reported most county roads in "fair" condition.

The winding Route 30 hill east from Chester was plowed and ashed, according to Supt. William Boyd from the Pughtown Garage. About eight trucks, in addition to other equipment, were in operation throughout the night.

All school buses maintained their normal runs although a few were late.

Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson said the Wellsville street crews started working Tuesday afternoon and continued through 2 a. m. today. They were back on the job again this morning. He said the city grader is being used to clear a path for traffic on Main St. No arrangements have been made to haul away the snow as of yet, he said.

Chester streets were being scraped and cindered this morning, but snow removal was handicapped by lack of the city high-lift and scraper which broke down last week.

Repairs have been delayed while a new gear is being sent by the factory.

The water department jeep was being utilized to scrape some streets.

Midland streets are "passable" this morning, including the steep Midland Heights hill, police reported. Street crews were out yesterday and early today.

The Rochester barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police reported roads open but snow covered and being plowed and cindered. Road crews were reported out all night.

The Carnegie barracks reported roads in its area in "bad shape" but open and crews had worked all night.

The temperature ranged between 20 and 29 degrees during the storm but will plunge tonight to the coldest mark of the season—4 to 8. The winds will diminish tonight, however.

Dam 7 said it recorded 29 degrees at midnight and the temperature fell to 24 for the overnight low. Today's high range will be a colder 18 to 23.

It will be a White Christmas—sub-normal temperatures through Sunday will preserve the snow.

EAST PALESTINE — Streets were plowed by crews working all night, and were passable this morning. Fire Chief Glen Libert appealed to residents to clear snow away from fire hydrants so they can be located quickly in event of a blaze.

assault and battery on elderly men.

In Stockdale's case, the judge indicated the fact the prisoner was a diabetic and was unable to get the proper controlled diet in jail was a factor in the release. The necessity for frequent insulin shots also was cited.

The judge suspended $150 of one of Stockdale's fines and $100 of another, leaving a balance of $600. Stockdale paid and was released. Judge Chertoff warned Stockdale if he is arrested again for a "numbers" offense, the court will insist that the case be handled as a felony, leaving him liable to a penitentiary sentence.

Taylor had "laid out" his term but had not finished serving time to cover the costs in the two assault cases. The judge suspended the costs, which made Taylor eligible for release.

The judge lectured the four in a group and then called them before him individually for release.

"The court is moved by compassion at this time of the year, but you must be warned the court can be equally hard-hearted if any of your terms of probation are violated," Judge Chertoff warned the four.

When Curry won his release after seven months, he exclaimed "Thank you judge!" and nearly ran out of the courtroom. Taylor, with 92 days behind bars, also left hurriedly. But all the prisoners thanked the judge profusely.

"At this time of the year, it hurts me to see anyone remain in jail," the judge said. "But let me warn you that compassion will not enter into the case if any of you are brought before me again for violating probation or a new offense."

and everythng else has increased, but not the charges, he said.

Paul Talbott of Hillcrest, manager of the McLain Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co., spoke from the audience, asserting he feels his firm is in a position to complain about putting the needed millage on property. He pointed out the large improvement program underway in Wellsville by the firm and said that the firm would have to pay the tax without deriving any benefits.

He asked if industry could be given any special consideration. Solicitor William Bush said all have to pay the same rates. He then asked if the firm would be entitled to the service.

When told it probably would, Talbott said "I withdraw my objection." Then in answer to a question from Bowling, Talbott said the firm utilizes a truck and one man all day to handle its refuse. Bowling then commented that possibly the city would have to do this if the service went on the tax duplicate.

All the comment came after the legislation had failed. The problem then was referred back to the refuse committee for further study with the recommendation that legislation be presented to place a levy on the ballot.

Taggart then said he "is opposed to putting any more tax on the people."

ern Beaver Area. The majority of buses made it through in the South Side area.

Beaver Local School District's over 2,200 students started their Christmas holiday a day earlier when George VanHorne, executive head, canceled classes because of road conditions.

VanHorne made a check of roads about 6:30, finding main arteries passable but secondary highways drifted deep so he notified bus drivers and school personnel.

Pupils at the district's 6 buildings will return Jan. 3.

A gift exchange and Christmas dinner slated for Southern Local students was postponed until January as a result of today's closing.

The 1,050 pupils were to have their holiday programs today, but the gifts will now be exchanged Jan. 3 when classes resume and the chicken dinner will be held Jan. 5, Jack Baker, executive head, announced.

Baker said a check with school bus drivers about 5:45 disclosed back roads were drifted in many places, and he ordered classes suspended at the five buildings.

Highway crews quit cindering early Tuesday afternoon and hooked plow attachments in attempts to keep main roads open but blustery winds caused drifting, especially on the north and south routes in Columbiana County.

Because of the direction of the wind, which ranged in velocity from 10 to 15 mph., with gusts of 20 to 25, the east and west roads remained relatively free of drifts.

The Ohio Valley got about 7 inches of snow, the rural areas up to 10 inches. The back-county fall equalled the amount of snow that had fallen since Nov. 30 in seven storms. There were two previous "measurable" snows — 2 inches Dec. 1 and 3 on Dec. 11. The others ranged from half an inch to 1 inch.

The snow began about mid-morning yesterday, not dense but falling steadily. The storm was in two parts, according to Dam 7 at Midland, which recorded the first fall from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., and the second from 5:10 p. m. until 7 a. m. today when it tapered into flurries. The dam recorded 7 inches on top of an inch from earlier storms.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, reported 5 inches and the State Highway Department garage at Leetonia wrote 10 inches into its daily records.

The entire force of over 18 crews were put on the roads by the Leetonia garage and the men kept their plows going through the night. "The roads snowed in as soon as we plowed them," an official said, requiring continuous trips over some sections.

Main highways in the area, such as Routes 30, 7 and 170, are snow covered but passable, the Ohio Highway Patrol post at Lisbon said, but secondary roads are generally closed for travel except for vehicles with chains.

The patrol said no accident reports had been received overnight, and only one major tieup occurred this morning, that briefly on Route 14 at Millville Hill near Salem.

Traffic was moving slowly but steadily, officers said.

County roads are reported in passable condition and should remain so unless increasing winds causing drifting John (Dick) Neil of the county road department said.

Christmas Dinner In Antarctic Among Week's Science Topics

By The Associated Press

Christmas dinner in the antarctic, water from moon stones, and executives plugged into the wall are subjects this week for science at work.

ANTARCTIC CHRISTMAS

Just four years ago this Christmas two scientists sat under the brilliant antarctic sun and supped on cocoa, marmalade and biscuits—food left behind in 1912 by an explorer's tragedy.

The food, preserved by the cold, had been left behind by British explorer Robert Scott who perished within 60 miles of his base camp after becoming the second person to reach the South Pole.

Ned Osteno and Charles Bentley, two University of Wisconsin scientists, found the food in good condition, the original camp building still standing, and a loaf of bread partially sliced on a table inside.

ON THE ROCKS

You may not be able to get blood from a turnip, but there are signs that earthmen on the moon may get water from rock.

Some rocks, known to contain up to five per cent water, may be found on the moon, says Dr. Roy G. Brereton of Aerojet-General Corp. By heating these rocks to about 2,700 degrees, drinkable water can be liberated as steam.

WIRED FOR ACTION

Business executives in the world of the future may be plugged into a computer.

It could speed decision making in large organiations by 10 times say scientists at Lockheed's missile and space division.

The computer acts as a vast community pool of fact. By plugging into the computer from his office, the executive can draw on any set of facts he needs to make his decision.

SPEED IN SPACE

Space ships heading toward Venus, Mars or the other planets must develop speeds some 35 times the speed of sound to pull away from the earth.

But the speed complicates the problem of approaching and landing at the destination planet. Now General Electric scientists have developed a shock tunnel that can produce these extreme speeds and the atmosphere believed to exist on Mars and Venus. Two Ohio Airmen Among Six Hurt In Plane Crash

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Two Nelsonville, Ohio, airmen were among the six injured in a plane crash who have been flown here from Nome and hospitalized at Elmendorf Air Force Base. Their conditions were listed as satisfactory.

Hospital officials said Robert E. Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pitts of Nelsonville, was the most seriously hurt and may have a broken spine. The other Ohioan is Gerald A. Wallace, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur E. Wallace. It was feared originally he had a broken back, but X-rays showed no fractures.

They were passengers aboard a twin-engine Wien Alaska Airlines plane which developed trouble on takeoff at St. Lawrence Island Sunday and crashed near the airstrip.

Christmas Dinner In Antarctic Among Week's Science Topics

By The Associated Press

Christmas dinner in the antarctic, water from moon stones, and executives plugged into the wall are subjects this week for science at work.

ANTARCTIC CHRISTMAS

Just four years ago this Christmas two scientists sat under the brilliant antarctic sun and supped on cocoa, marmalade and biscuits—food left behind in 1912 by an explorer's tragedy.

The food, preserved by the cold, had been left behind by British explorer Robert Scott who perished within 60 miles of his base camp after becoming the second person to reach the South Pole.

Ned Osteno and Charles Bentley, two University of Wisconsin scientists, found the food in good condition, the original camp building still standing, and a loaf of bread partially sliced on a table inside.

ON THE ROCKS

You may not be able to get blood from a turnip, but there are signs that earthmen on the moon may get water from rock.

Some rocks, known to contain up to five per cent water, may be found on the moon, says Dr. Roy G. Brereton of Aerojet-General Corp. By heating these rocks to about 2,700 degrees, drinkable water can be liberated as steam.

WIRED FOR ACTION

Business executives in the world of the future may be plugged into a computer.

It could speed decision making in large organiations by 10 times say scientists at Lockheed's missile and space division.

The computer acts as a vast community pool of fact. By plugging into the computer from his office, the executive can draw on any set of facts he needs to make his decision.

SPEED IN SPACE

Space ships heading toward Venus, Mars or the other planets must develop speeds some 35 times the speed of sound to pull away from the earth.

But the speed complicates the problem of approaching and landing at the destination planet. Now General Electric scientists have developed a shock tunnel that can produce these extreme speeds and the atmosphere believed to exist on Mars and Venus. They will study the effects of escape speeds on various shapes to help in designing space ships.

New Federal Court Act Hit By Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' administration, hit by new federal court action, today seeks House passage of a controversial sales tax raise pegged to the school integration fight.

The $28-million tax increase hits the House floor in a four-bill package under top priority.

The bill would raise the two per cent tax to three per cent throughout the state for eight months starting Jan. 1. Some cities, which now have a three per cent levy, would then have a four per cent tax.

Backers of the tax raise claimed it is needed for the state's program to keep white children from going to school with Negroes.

Revenues from the tax would be dedicated to grants in aid to parents who wish to send their children to private school cooperatives.

Many contended House Speaker Tom Jewell, Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock, and Education Supt. Shelby Jackson were in contempt when they refused to pay employes at two New Orleans schools integrated by federal order.

The legislature has refused to recognize the school board since Nov. 14, when two New Orleans elementary schools were integrated, and has cut off the board's funds.

Crews Work In Snow To Clear Derailment

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Train crews were working in deep snow today to clear the New York Central tracks 12 miles north of here of the wreckage of a derailed freight train.

More than 30 cars derailed Tuesday, tearing up track and damaging a trestle. Train movements were being rerouted around the wreckage.

Sheriff's deputies and volunteer firemen for a time were concerned about a tank car filled with a highly explosive tetrachloride compound which was believed overturned. Later it was found out the car was upright and no danger was present.

Other tank cars containing sulphuric and hydrochloric acid overturned and ruptured, however, spreading nauseating fumes over the area. Three families residing nearby were evacuated until the fumes cleared.

Maryland Postmistress Stamps Herself Tired

BETHLEHEM, Md. (AP) — Mary Carroll, the local postmistress, has stamped herself tired.

Since 1946 she has been handcancelling Christmas mail brought or sent here for a Bethlehem postmark and a special cachet showing the Three Wise Men following the star.

Ill health and the volume of business this year forced her to begin a "do-it-yourself" system for persons who bring their mail to the one-room postoffice. They are asked to stamp it themselves.

Sheriff Gets Bailiff Post In New Court

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Sheriff William B. Evans has been named to a $5,500-a-year post as bailiff in Judge John F. Clair Jr.'s new Lake County Court of Domestic Relations. Clair now is an assistant prosecutor and, like Evans, a Republican. They will take office Jan. 2.

Evans, 51, a veteran of 25 years' police work, lost by 4,251 votes in a bid last month for reelection. Evans became sheriff 18 months ago when Paul F. Cage resigned, and was in office when Lake County's much publicized sniper slaying of Charles R. Clark occurred last Christmas Eve in Mentor.

2 Men Nabbed, Third Sought In Bilk Plot

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police picked up two men Tuesday night and hunted a third in what officers said was an aborted try to bilk an elderly widow of her life savings.

Investigators said Mrs. Matilda Zoz, 82, was swindled of $2,225 last week by men posing as "state fire inspectors," and saying her home had a defective gas outlet.

Officers said the two 29-year-old men being questioned, one from St. Louis and one from St. Petersburg, Fla., denied any part in the swindle. No charge was filed immediately.

Investigators said the swindle try was similar in method to that of a 25-member ring that operates nationally.

Police said the bogus fire inspectors took Mrs. Zoz to her bank again Tuesday, demanding she get cash to post bond against having the defective gas outlet repaired.

But bank officials were suspicious, police said, and called police. Their arrival caused the "inspectors" to drive off, but tracing their car led to the suspects.

The swindle method was virtually identical to that used to bilk two other elderly women recently —one for $7,700 last September and the other for $3,900 in October 1959.

City Manager Hits Haste In Bribery Probe

CINCINNATI (AP)—City Manager C. A. Harrell says he thinks Cincinnati police took hasty action in a probe of bribery reports at the city auto inspection station.

Harrell said Tuesday there was not enough study of the case before police acted on a tip that lane employes would pass a defective car for a $1 bribe.

Police Chief Stanley Schrotel, asked his view of Harrell's report, said only, "He's the boss."

The police two weeks ago questioned William P. Nichols, 32, a car inspector, after officers in plain clothes said they saw Nichols take a marked $1 bill from the front seat of a car.

Nichols, however, said he thought it dropped from his pocket and contended he had no knowledge of bribery at the center.

Nichols was found dead the following morning in his car, an apparent suicide victim. A note he left repeated his statement of innocence and said his job was all he had.

Harrell said hereafter the city department involved in complaints will make a preliminary investigation before calling in police.

Columbus Wholesale Concern Hit By Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Sharwell Tobacco Co. was swept by fire Tuesday night with nearly total loss of the wholesale tobacco - notions firm's building and stock.

Firemen struggled for hours in the snow against the raging furnace that the one-story concrete block building had become. It served as both warehouse and office for the company.

No injuries were reported. The blaze was confined to the one building. The Fire Department said that origin of the fire was undetermined and loss estimate unavailable pending further investigation.

Ohio Firm To Merge With Detroit Concern

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Wakefield Co., 55-year-old maker of lighting equipment in nearby Vermilion, plans to merge with Abrasive & Metal Products Co. of Detroit, subject to stockholders' approval. This was disclosed Tuesday by A. F. Wakefield, president of the Vermilion concern which had sales of nearly $5 million this year. The Detroit firm's sales are about $7.5 million a year.

The new company would be known as the Wakefield Corp., with headquarters in Detroit, but its Vermilion operation would continue unchanged, Wakefield said.

Police said the bogus fire inspectors took Mrs. Zoz to her bank again Tuesday, demanding she get cash to post bond against having the defective gas outlet repaired.

But bank officials were suspicious, police said, and called police. Their arrival caused the "inspectors" to drive off, but tracing their car led to the suspects.

The swindle method was virtually identical to that used to bilk two other elderly women recently —one for $7,700 last September and the other for $3,900 in October 1959.

City Manager Hits Haste In Bribery Probe

CINCINNATI (AP)—City Manager C. A. Harrell says he thinks Cincinnati police took hasty action in a probe of bribery reports at the city auto inspection station.

Harrell said Tuesday there was not enough study of the case before police acted on a tip that lane employes would pass a defective car for a $1 bribe.

Police Chief Stanley Schrotel, asked his view of Harrell's report, said only, "He's the boss."

The police two weeks ago questioned William P. Nichols, 32, a car inspector, after officers in plain clothes said they saw Nichols take a marked $1 bill from the front seat of a car.

Nichols, however, said he thought it dropped from his pocket and contended he had no knowledge of bribery at the center.

Nichols was found dead the following morning in his car, an apparent suicide victim. A note he left repeated his statement of innocence and said his job was all he had.

Harrell said hereafter the city department involved in complaints will make a preliminary investigation before calling in police.

3 Possible Causes Listed In Air Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three possible causes of history's worst aviation disaster in New York last Friday have been put forward.

1. The ground radio navigation equipment that guides a plane in its holding pattern may have been at fault.

2. There could have been a brief but critical lapse in radar surveillance from the ground of the two planes that collided over Staten Island.

3. A passenger on the United Airlines DC8 jet may have knocked awry delicate navigation equipment in the plane by using a transistor radio or a portable dictation machine.

These ideas were advanced Tuesday by persons who are interested parties in the intensive investigation of the collision of the jet with a TWA Super Constellation.

The first two theories came from W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines. The third came from John R. McDonald, an official of the Air Line Pilots Association.

The ALPA has been at bitter odds with E.R. Quesada, head of the Federal Aviation Agency. McDonald underscored this Tuesday when he blasted Quesada for commenting about the crash.

"Quesada is in no position whatever to make any statements as to the possible cause of the New York accident," McDonald said.

Quesada said he had no comment "at this time" on McDonald's statement.

Quesada had told President Eisenhower in a personal report on the crash that the United Air Lines jet was 11 miles off course when the collision occurred.

City Woman Hurt In Mixer Mishap

Burt Malone, 18, of Georgetown R. D. 1 suffered injuries of 2 fingers of the left hand while hauling coal.

Barbara Burns, 14, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Patterson, 1700 Idaho Ave., was treated for an eye injury received when kicked in a Westgate School gym class.

Col. Mobutu Says He Doesn't Plan On Invasion Now

COQUILHATVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu announced Tuesday night he does not plan an immediate invasion to overthrow the pro-Lumumba government in Oriental province.

The Congolese army leader had been reported moving troops into Equator province—adjoining Oriental—for a massive invasion to crush the rebel regime in Stanleyville that has defied the central Congo government in Leopoldville dominated by Mobutu and President Joseph Kasavubu.

But Mobutu told newsmen he does not plan any "immediate military action" against the Stanleyville regime and does not "wish to shed Congolese blood unnecessarily."

The army leader said the rebel government of Antoine Gizenga, pro-Communist deputy premier under Patrice Lumumba, would be brought down by the economic blockade the Leopoldville government ordered against Oriental Province this week. All road, river and air travel into the province was banned.

"Already the Oriental troops are short of uniforms and ammunition," Mobutu said. "With their supply lines cut, they cannot last long."

MULBERRY GROVE, Ill. (AP) —A 5-year-old Ohio girl was fatally injured and her parents hurt in a two-car collision on U.S. 40 at Mulberry Grove Tuesday.

Spring, 29, suffered a fractured left leg and his wife, Norma, 28, a fractured left leg. The driver of the other car, William W. Kearby, 49, of Duquoin, Ill., suffered minor injuries.

Ben-Gurion Says Israel's Reactor Due For 'Peace'

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion told Parliament today that the atomic reactor Israel is building in the Negev desert will be "dedicated entirely" to research for peaceful purposes..

Ben-Gurion said the reactor — Israel's second — would not be completed for three or four years.

When completed, he said, "it will be open to students from other countries as well." He said it would have a capacity of 24,000 kilowatts, far greater than the 1,000-kilowatt training reactor built in the Rehovoth area with U. S. help.

Ben-Gurion's statement was prompted by newspaper reports published in Washington and London that Israel, with French aid, was secretly building an atomic reactor that would be used to produce an atomic bomb. Both the Israeli and French governments denied the report, saying their nuclear cooperation is entirely to peaceful purposes.

Eisenhower recalled that for most of his adult life he celebrated the Christmas season in uniform—"in war and peace, on military assignments at home and overseas."

County Board Waits Report

LISBON — Four members of the Columbiana County Board of Education braved the snowstorm Tuesday evening and attended the regular monthly meeting.

Supt. James L. McBride reported on his visit to Ohio University Dec. 5 and 6 but said the school hadn't received a report from a university team study of the Southern Local School District consolidation.

Supt. McBride read a request from Stanislaus County in California for details of Columbiana County's water safety program sponsored last spring at Guilford Lake.

Several other school districts and states have inquired about the water safety program.

A report written by Huber Lawrence, county school psychologist, detailed his progress in the county school program.

The board authorized affiliation with the Ohio School Boards Association and authorized 1961 dues of $50.

Bills of $155.29 were ordered paid.

The next meeting will be Jan. 20 when the board will reorganize for 1961.

As each tieup was reported to headquarters by radio, officers dispatched ash trucks to help get traffic moving again.

The snow halted most incinerator department trash and garbage pickups, but the crews and trucks were assigned to aid the street department in snow removal.

"Our No. 1 problem is finances to cover the cost of overtime," the mayor commented. "It's the end of the year, when finances normally are low. In addition, our street department payroll costs were high early in the year because of heavy spring snows and an Ohio River flood."

The mayor was out of bed this morning at 6:30 and got to his office at City Hall as soon as he had shoveled away snow to get his car onto the street. He checked with police and the street department on traffic conditions and joined Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver in directing the clean-up.

U.S.

The heavy snow covering appeared to guarantee many areas a white Christmas on Sunday. No general immediate break in the cold weather was indicated.

Travel, both by motor and air, was sharply curtailed throughout the snowbelt. Snow diminished to flurries in most Midwest areas, and clean-up crews were on 24-hour schedules clearing streets and highways.

Chicago's Midway Airport, called the world's busiest, was closed for more than 12 hours as workers cleared the runways of the heavy snow. Airports in Cincinnati also were closed.

Ohio and Pennsylvania battled the storm. Falls of 8 to 14 inches were expected in western Pennsylvania, with 7 to 10 inches in Pittsburgh. A half foot of snow fell in a four-hour period in the small town of Somerset, Pa.

In Ohio, more than 8 inches of snow snarled traffic in Columbus and a 10-inch fall was expected in Cleveland. Falls of 3 to 6 inches were reported in most northern areas, with lesser falls in the southern part of the state.

Snow mixed with rain and sleet pelted areas in New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia and western North Carolina, with snow on the way in some areas. The snow-sleet mixture in Newark and Trenton changed to heavy rains. New York City, hit by heavy snow last week, was in the path of the storm.

200 Attend Christmas Meeting Of Elkton PTO

About 200 attended a meeting of the Elkton Parent-Teacher Organization Tuesday night at the school at which students presented the annual Christmas program of music, plays and recitations.

Holiday parties planned today for pupils at the school have been postponed until Jan. 3 Mrs. Nellie Noel, principal, said today.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting is Jan. 11.

Yule Party Awaited

EAST PALESTINE — The annual community Christmas party, sponsored by the First National Bank, will be held Thursday night at 7 at the bank. Some 1,200 are expected at the event, which began in 1935. Santa will distribute treats and gifts to children and adults.

County Board Waits Report

LISBON — Four members of the Columbiana County Board of Education braved the snowstorm Tuesday evening and attended the regular monthly meeting.

Supt. James L. McBride reported on his visit to Ohio University Dec. 5 and 6 but said the school hadn't received a report from a university team study of the Southern Local School District consolidation.

Supt. McBride read a request from Stanislaus County in California for details of Columbiana County's water safety program sponsored last spring at Guilford Lake.

Several other school districts and states have inquired about the water safety program.

A report written by Huber Lawrence, county school psychologist, detailed his progress in the county school program.

The board authorized affiliation with the Ohio School Boards Association and authorized 1961 dues of $50.

Bills of $155.29 were ordered paid.

The next meeting will be Jan. 20 when the board will reorganize for 1961.

As each tieup was reported to headquarters by radio, officers dispatched ash trucks to help get traffic moving again.

The snow halted most incinerator department trash and garbage pickups, but the crews and trucks were assigned to aid the street department in snow removal.

"Our No. 1 problem is finances to cover the cost of overtime," the mayor commented. "It's the end of the year, when finances normally are low. In addition, our street department payroll costs were high early in the year because of heavy spring snows and an Ohio River flood."

The mayor was out of bed this morning at 6:30 and got to his office at City Hall as soon as he had shoveled away snow to get his car onto the street. He checked with police and the street department on traffic conditions and joined Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver in directing the cleanup.

Santa To Arrive At Newell Tonight

The Wells High School Band will herald his arrival with appropriate Yuletide selections.

Treats will be distributed to Newell area youngsters up to and including 12 years, at the fire station.

The candy treats were bagged Monday night by the sponsoring organizations, including the Legion and auxiliary, volunteer firemen and auxiliary, Women's Club, Business & Professional Women's Club, and the Boosters Club.

U.S.

The heavy snow covering appeared to guarantee many areas a white Christmas on Sunday. No general immediate break in the cold weather was indicated.

Travel, both by motor and air, was sharply curtailed throughout the snowbelt. Snow diminished to flurries in most Midwest areas, and clean-up crews were on 24-hour schedules clearing streets and highways.

Chicago's Midway Airport, called the world's busiest, was closed for more than 12 hours as workers cleared the runways of the heavy snow. Airports in Cincinnati also were closed.

Ohio and Pennsylvania battled the storm. Falls of 8 to 14 inches were expected in western Pennsylvania, with 7 to 10 inches in Pittsburgh. A half foot of snow fell in a four-hour period in the small town of Somerset, Pa.

In Ohio, more than 8 inches of snow snarled traffic in Columbus and a 10-inch fall was expected in Cleveland. Falls of 3 to 6 inches were reported in most northern areas, with lesser falls in the southern part of the state.

Snow mixed with rain and sleet pelted areas in New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia and western North Carolina, with snow on the way in some areas. The snow-sleet mixture in Newark and Trenton changed to heavy rains. New York City, hit by heavy snow last week, was in the path of the storm.

Wellsville Council Gets Request

Extra Policeman Sought To Handle Meter Work

Wellsville City Council Tuesday night received a request from Police Chief John Hephner for an extra patrolman to help handle parking meter tickets and the necessary book work involved.

In other business, Council accepted the 1961 tax rates as set by the County Budget Commission and adopted the annual legislation amending the 1960 appropriation to transfer funds to clear out the year end business of the city.

HEPHNER requested the extra man, reporting he has been kept busy practically each day for a month keeping the necessary records on parking meter tickets.

He explained how each ticket must be recorded and checked. Councilmen discussed the proposal with some opposing it and then referred it to the finance committee. Hephner said the department has issued over 1,000 tickets.

According to the new tax rates, the city's general fund will receive $22,457 in real estate taxes next year. The collection is based on 2.5 mills inside the 10-mill limitation.

The city will receive $898 for the bond retirement fund based on a tenth-mill inside the limitation and $2,695 each for the fire and police retirement funds, each based on three-tenths mills inside the limitation.

THIS MAKES a total of $28,745 collected inside the limitation based on a total of 3.2 mills.

Collected outside voted levies are the half-mill floodwall levy which produces $4,491, the 1-mill police levy providing $8,983 and the 1.8-mill street light levy, which will produce $16,169.

This is a total of $29,643 outside the limitation based on a total of 3.3 mills.

The amendment appropriated a total of $17,119.91 from the general fund to various departments to meet yearend expenses and bills. It also transfered $1,000 to the cemetery fund and $1,224.58 to the refuse disposal department.

Council received a request from officials of the Freeport Sulphur Co. of New Orleans to repair old Route 7 to get in to their terminal and also for a 6- or 8-inch water main to the property below 25th St.

COUNCIL took no action on the road request, referring the firm to the State Highway Department, and the water committee is to check the water main. A main now lies within 400 feet of the property. Officials said the road repairs are needed so big trucks can get in to the terminal.

Legislation repealing a previous ordinance and allowing parking in Cherry Alley was passed by a 4-3 vote following a lengthy discussion. Some councilmen wanted all alleys studied.

Legislation was passed on second reading creating a three-way stop intersection at 15th St. and Buckeye Ave. One more reading is required.

Council instructed the safety-service director, William Robinson, to rent parking meter space to city physicians for a fee of $6 per month. The spots are to be located in front of their office so the doctors can get to their cars quickly in case of an emergency. The meter heads will be removed and the space marked "reserved for a doctor."

COUNCIL gave a vote of thanks to the fire department for its work in battling three house fires over a week ago. Chief Robert Lewis thanked Council on behalf of his men and also the police department and other city workers and officials who aided.

Council voted to erect a fence along a section of Main St. between 12th and 14th Sts. The flat section, now being used by residents for parking space, was owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. but reverted to the city when the passenger service was dropped.

Mayor William J. Shoub said he checked a complaint given Council at its last meeting by a woman on Main St. about the amount of her water bill. He said a leaking toilet was found at the home.

IT WAS REPORTED to Council that a 1948 dump truck burned up about two weeks ago when the dirt gave way and it fell into the burning dump.

Councilman Donald Miller said the finance committee will begin work in the near future on the 1961 appropriations. He asked department heads to sit in and explain their needs.

Miller also requested the city defer ashing 14th St. when it snows so the children of the neighborhood will have a place to coast.

Kennedy To Ask 4-Point Plan On Physical Fitness

NEW YORK (AP)—A four-point program of physical fitness aimed principally at the nation's youth is proposed by President-elect John F. Kennedy to be put in operation when his administration takes office.

In a copywrighted article in Sports Illustrated, Kennedy wrote that a growing softness in Americans "is a menace to our security as well as our ability to live up to the challenges which lie ahead."

He suggested establishment of a White House committee on health and fitness to carry out a program to improve the physical fitness of the nation; place physical fitness of youth under direct responsibility of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; invite governors of every state to attend an annual national youth fitness congress; and to proclaim through all government departments that promotion of sports participation and physical fitness is a basic and continuing policy of the United States.

Thief Cuts Down Tree At Home On Norton St.

East Liverpool police know Christmas is imminent when they receive the first report of an ornamental evergreen stolen from someone's lawn. It happens every year.

First victim of the 1960 Christmas season was Mrs. William Clark of Norton St. She told police Tuesday a pine tree growing on her lawn was cut down and carried off by a thief.

Snow Blamed In City Mishap

Deep snow was blamed for a three-car pileup today at 6:50 a. m. at Broadway and E. 3rd St., police reported. No one was injured.

Cline told police he was moving toward the intersection when his car was hit from the rear by the Adkins auto. Adkins said his car slid into Cline's. Wright said he attempted to stop, but skidded into the Adkins car.

Another mishap at 10:28 a. m. Tuesday at E. 4th St. and Cherry Alley damaged a 1960 two-door sedan driven by Kenneth Bell, 42, of 237 Highland Ave., Wellsville, and a 1946 model truck operated by Thomas R. Flowers, 21, of 927 Fairview St., police said.

Steubenville Truck Figure Is Wounded

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A wealthy trucklines operator was wounded seriously by a shotgun blast fired by his 19-year-old stepson Tuesday night as he left his house to start for Florida, Police Capt. Robert Cornelius said.

Carl Humes, about 45, president of Humes Trucking Co. which operates throughout Ohio and head of a trailer manufacturing business here, was in critical condition at Ohio Valley Hosptal with shotgun wounds in his thigh and a shattered pelvis.

Cornelius said Theodore Seese, Humes' stepson, admitted the shooting and told police he went to the Humes home with the shotgun after getting a telephone call from his sister. The sister lives with her mother at the Humes home, and Theodore lives with his father a few doors away on the same street.

The shooting followed several months of domestic quarreling, but the specific events that led up to it were not disclosed by young Seese, police said.

The Boston Red Sox won the 1946 American League pennant after finishing seventh in 1945.

SANTA and the BOY FISH by Lucrece Hudgins Beale

Michael has rescued Costenbricker from a trunk at the bottom of the sea and has left him, safe from the clutches of the Monster of the Deep, in friendly Turtle City. Now he is free to dive into the water and continue his search for the black pearl aboard the sunken ARADOON.

CHAPTER 15

Not so far from the Turtle City Michael saw the blue - shadowed hulk of the ARADOON looming ahead of him. Swarms of fish hovered around the prow and thousands of mussels clung to the naked masks.

Michael grasped the anchor chain and something snapped around his fingers. He drew back in alarm. A lobster was clinging to his hand. He flung it off and kicked at the chain. Dozens of lobsters tumbled off of it.

He swam over the half-collapsed railing and stood on the buckled deck. Shivering, he made his way to an open hatch and glided into a great tunnel leading down.

He passed the cook's gallery with its shattered pottery scattered everywhere. He swam through the crew's quarters and the cargo areas and came at last to a closed cabin with Captain written on the tilted door.

He kicked at the door and it fell off its hinges and floated away. In the blue darkness he saw the shape of a trunk wedged under the captain's bunk.

"THERE IT is!" he thought joyfully. But as he reached out, the whole bed seemed suddenly to come alive and an enormous arm swung down and wrapped itself around the trunk.

For a moment Michael thought the ghost of the captain himself was rising from the bed. Then two other arms slid toward him and he saw that it wasn't the captain but a giant squid guarding the treasure.

Lying in the trunk was the precious black pearl.

Seven of the creature's arms were missing and, staring at the other three, Michael knew that here was the 3-fingered Monster of the Deep come to keep his vow.

He backed against the wall. The squid's arms followed him. Scarcely breathing, Michael edged to the doorway and turned to flee.

Propelling itself with bursts of black ink, the squid jetted after him. Slimy arms slapped at Michael's legs as he slipped through a yawning hatch and dive into the crushed-in hold. Sand scraped his chest and his shoulder lung banged against the ship's broken ribs. Suddenly he found himself wedged into a crevice and could go no farther. Twisting around in panic he saw the eye of the squid staring at him through the crevice.

"WHAT SHALL I do?" moaned Michael, as he clutched the ship's ribs, a jagged sliver suddenly broke off in his hands and, without stopping to think, he plunged the tip through the crevice and speared the unsuspecting squid through the heart.

Quickly he squeezed out of the crevice and sped away. Happy as he was to have killed the squid, he knew the Monster of the Deep still had two lives left and he must hurry.

He returned to the captain's cabin and kicked off the rusted locks of the iron trunk. He threw back the top and stared wide eyed at the hundreds of pieces of gold that lay before him. Lying among the gold was a silver box and in the box was the precious black pearl.

Michael took out the pearl and slipped it inside his face mask. Then, with a last look of longing at the gold, he slammed shut the trunk and turned to leave.

"I'm free!" he thought happily as he came out on the deck. "I've escaped the Monster after all!"

But even as he spoke, a 3-eyed viper fish slipped through the buckled deck and darted toward him.

Boy, Sole Planes Collision Survivor 24 Hours, Buried

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Stephen Baltz, 11, who for some 24 hours was the only survivor of last Friday's tragic air collision over New York, was buried Tuesday.

Ironically, an airliner droned above the snow-covered pine trees in Memorial Park Cemetery in suburban Skokie as the boy's body was lowered into a grave.

Stephen died of burns and injuries Saturday, the 135th victim of the crash of two airliners. He was among the 84 passengers on one of the planes.

Stephen was buried after simple services in the Methodist Church where he was baptized and in whose boys choir he sang. Three hundred persons filled the church.

Woman, 64, Claimed After Headon Crash

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—A Wood County woman, hurled from her car in a head-on collision, died today in Wood County Hospital here.

The victim was Mrs. Guy Lindquist, 64, of Cyrgnet. The Ohio Highway Patrol said the impact of a head-on collision Tuesday hurled her out of her car and across the road. The accident occurred at the intersection of U.S. 25 and Cygnet Road, about eight miles south of Bowling Green.

Two persons in the other car were injured. Mrs. Lindquist was alone. The patrol said slippery road conditions probably caused one car to slide across the center lie.

The three killed, all members of one family, were Charles Hart, about 58, of Cecil (Paulding County), his wife Opal, about 57, and one of their daughters, Mabel, 30. All lived at the same address.

Four others were injured in the head-on collision in a snowstorm on U.S. 24 just over the Paulding-Defiance county line. Two of them were another daughter of the Harts—Mrs. Leonard Laffin, 33, also of Cecil—and her 5½-year-old son, Leonard Leon Laffin Jr.

The two other injured — both servicemen—were in the second car. They were Clayton Brenner, 21, of Hopkins, Mich., and Bill Hodge, 19, of Artie, W.Va.

SANTA and the BOY FISH by Lucrece Hudgins Beale

Michael has rescued Costenbricker from a trunk at the bottom of the sea and has left him, safe from the clutches of the Monster of the Deep, in friendly Turtle City. Now he is free to dive into the water and continue his search for the black pearl aboard the sunken ARADOON.

Lying in the trunk was the precious black pearl.

CHAPTER 15

Not so far from the Turtle City Michael saw the blue - shadowed hulk of the ARADOON looming ahead of him. Swarms of fish hovered around the prow and thousands of mussels clung to the naked masks.

Michael grasped the anchor chain and something snapped around his fingers. He drew back in alarm. A lobster was clinging to his hand. He flung it off and kicked at the chain. Dozens of lobsters tumbled off of it.

He swam over the half-collapsed railing and stood on the buckled deck. Shivering, he made his way to an open hatch and glided into a great tunnel leading down.

He passed the cook's gallery with its shattered pottery scattered everywhere. He swam through the crew's quarters and the cargo areas and came at last to a closed cabin with Captain written on the tilted door.

He kicked at the door and it fell off its hinges and floated away. In the blue darkness he saw the shape of a trunk wedged under the captain's bunk.

"THERE IT is!" he thought joyfully. But as he reached out, the whole bed seemed suddenly to come alive and an enormous arm swung down and wrapped itself around the trunk.

For a moment Michael thought the ghost of the captain himself was rising from the bed. Then two other arms slid toward him and he saw that it wasn't the captain but a giant squid guarding the treasure.

Seven of the creature's arms were missing and, staring at the other three, Michael knew that here was the 3-fingered Monster of the Deep come to keep his vow.

He backed against the wall. The squid's arms followed him. Scarcely breathing, Michael edged to the doorway and turned to flee.

Propelling itself with bursts of black ink, the squid jetted after him. Slimy arms slapped at Michael's legs as he slipped through a yawning hatch and dive into the crushed-in hold. Sand scraped his chest and his shoulder lung banged against the ship's broken ribs. Suddenly he found himself wedged into a crevice and could go no farther. Twisting around in panic he saw the eye of the squid staring at him through the crevice.

"WHAT SHALL I do?" moaned Michael, as he clutched the ship's ribs, a jagged sliver suddenly broke off in his hands and, without stopping to think, he plunged the tip through the crevice and speared the unsuspecting squid through the heart.

Quickly he squeezed out of the crevice and sped away. Happy as he was to have killed the squid, he knew the Monster of the Deep still had two lives left and he must hurry.

He returned to the captain's cabin and kicked off the rusted locks of the iron trunk. He threw back the top and stared wide eyed at the hundreds of pieces of gold that lay before him. Lying among the gold was a silver box and in the box was the precious black pearl.

Michael took out the pearl and slipped it inside his face mask. Then, with a last look of longing at the gold, he slammed shut the trunk and turned to leave.

"I'm free!" he thought happily as he came out on the deck. "I've escaped the Monster after all!"

But even as he spoke, a 3-eyed viper fish slipped through the buckled deck and darted toward him.

OSU researchers are seeking ways to improve the flavor of canned tomatoes. The research program also includes study in such fields as antibiotics in milk, chick - embryo nutrition, muscle changes in rapidly fattened hogs, and essential fatty acids.

Peters, professor in the department of education, will direct the full-year institute.

Boy, Sole Planes Collision Survivor 24 Hours, Buried

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Stephen Baltz, 11, who for some 24 hours was the only survivor of last Friday's tragic air collision over New York, was buried Tuesday.

Ironically, an airliner droned above the snow-covered pine trees in Memorial Park Cemetery in suburban Skokie as the boy's body was lowered into a grave.

Stephen died of burns and injuries Saturday, the 135th victim of the crash of two airliners. He was among the 84 passengers on one of the planes.

Stephen was buried after simple services in the Methodist Church where he was baptized and in whose boys choir he sang. Three hundred persons filled the church.

Woman, 64, Claimed After Headon Crash

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —A Wood County woman, hurled from her car in a head-on collision, died today in Wood County Hospital here.

The victim was Mrs. Guy Lindquist, 64, of Cyrgnet. The Ohio Highway Patrol said the impact of a head-on collision Tuesday hurled her out of her car and across the road. The accident occurred at the intersection of U.S. 25 and Cygnet Road, about eight miles south of Bowling Green.

Two persons in the other car were injured. Mrs. Lindquist was alone. The patrol said slippery road conditions probably caused one car to slide across the center lie.

Reds Protest – Assembly Recesses

All In U.N. Must Share Cost Of Congo Operation

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The U. N. General Assembly recessed its turbulent 15th session early today after approving a resolution requiring all members to share in the cost of the 1960 U. N. Congo operation.

The Soviet Union vigorously opposed the plan. It made it plain it would defy the assembly majority by refusing to supply any part of the $48.5 million to be raised by assessments. The vote was 46-17 with 24 abstentions.

The assembly also authorized Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to spend up to $24 million for the Congo operation during the first three months of 1961.

The 99-nation assembly adjourned at 12:57 a. m. to begin an 11-week recess that will end March 7.

The stormy three-month session, which opened Sept. 20, was notable chiefly for the visit of Soviet Premier Khrushchev and the bitter Soviet campaign against Hammarskjold.

The final hours were devoted mostly to budgetary and other housekeeping questions, but the crucial issues raised during the session persisted.

Soviet Delegate A. A. Roshchin told the assembly just before the postmidnight vote on the Congo budget: "One of the main causes of the situation as it now prevails in the Congo is to be found in the fact that the secretary-general, on his own initiative and without any authorization from the Security Council, has set up a United Nations command . . . consisting mainly of United States nationals and nationals of other countries in NATO."

The Russians indicated they would continue their attack. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin called a news conference today to review the work of the session.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said in a statement that the Soviet Union, because its plans in the Congo had been frustrated, had tried to punish the United Nations, to misrepresent and libel it, to hamstring its operations and to drive Hammarskjold from office.

Although the assembly deferred action on many issues, it did make several positive decisions, including:

1. It called for steps to bring "to a speedy and unconditional end colonialism in all its forms and manifestations."

2. It declared the Algerian people have the right to independence and the United Nations has a responsibility to help bring it about.

3. It called on the nuclear powers to make every effort to reach an agreement banning further nuclear test explosions. It also called for a permanent agreement to prevent dissemination of nuclear weapons to countries which do not have them.

The assembly was unable to agree on any resolution on the Congo crisis. After weeks of debate on general disarmament, it decided to put the question over until it resumes in March. It postponed for another year consideration of the seating of Red China.

Other key issues were not even discussed. These included President Eisenhower's proposal for economic aid to Africa, outer space, the Hungarian problem, Communist Chinese occupation of Tibet, Soviet charges of U.S. aggression, Cuban complaints against the United States, and the continuing division of Korea. All will be taken up at the March meeting.

When these discussions take place, the United States will have a new delegation headed by Adlai E. Stevenson, named by President-elect John F. Kennedy to replace Wadsworth Jan. 20. Many delegates are looking for sharp changes in U.S. policy, which has been criticized by many Asians and Africans.

The assembly had never witnessed anything to match the conduct of Khrushchev, who heckled speakers by table thumping, banged his shoe on his desk, hurled such names as "lackey" at other delegates, and demanded the resignation of the secretary-general.

House Group Fires Salvo At ICC And CAB

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House subcommittee that exposed the TV quiz show scandals has fired a parting salvo of criticism at the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It was learned Tuesday night that the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, which goes out of business Jan. 3, adopted the critical report of its staff at a secret meeting Friday. The report is to be made public today.

Rep. Steven B. Derounian, R-N. Y., was one of several subcommittee members who protested making the report public. Derounian called it "unfair, unjudicial and beneath the dignity of a congressional committee supposed to be seeking the facts."

There was no immediate comment from CAB or ICC spokesmen.

The charges in the report were in general terms and made few specific allegations against individuals. Among subcommittee charges:

1. The ICC was lax in renewing the operating certificate of Interstate Dress Carriers, Inc., a New York truck company that hauls garments, despite the company's "long history of violations of ICC regulations."

2. Alleged close relations between a trucking trade association and ICC officials in Texas and alleged favored treatment for the association in enforcing regulations. No names of companies or individuals were specified except for last names of some ICC personnel and others in several letters quoted by the subcommittee report.

3. The CAB's findings of probable cause of air accidents "are conditioned on the effect such findings may have on the promotion of civil aviation." Also, the CAB takes too long to decide economic proceedings before it and certain CAB officials have received "unusual hospitality from air carriers. . . . "Again no names were specified.

Under terms of the special resolution creating it, the subcommittee goes out of business Jan. 3. Subcommittee members reportedly have agreed not to ask that its term be extended or renewed.

Brother's Yule Gun Goes Off, Kills Sister

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Susan Hooker, 9, was shot and killed in her Detroit home Tuesday night when a Christmas shotgun her brother, 13, was holding discharged.

Michael said the gun didn't seem to work correctly Tuesday night, and he was checking it over when it suddenly went off. The charge struck his sister in the head.

'Kennedy Place'

Soviet Says U.S. Ship Made Mock Attack On Vessel

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has charged a U.S. destroyer made an hour-long mock attack on a Soviet freighter in the Mediterranean Nov. 4, almost causing a collision.

In a protest note delivered to the U.S. Embassy Tuesday, the Russians demanded "severe punishment for those guilty of the provocative actions."

The note identified the destroyer as No. 817, the number assigned the radar picket destroyer Corry.

The freighter, the Faleshty, was en route to Odessa from Marseille, France, the note said, when the destroyer made several turns nearby and then approached.

"When the U. S. destroyer was at a distance of 70 to 80 meters from the motorship and continued approaching it, the captain of the motorship had to stop the engines to prevent a collision," the note asserted.

The welcome was given by Walter Lineberry, president. The next meeting is Jan. 16.

Michigan State's football team was the only Big Ten eleven to end the 1960 season with three straight victories.

Youth Gets 12 Years In Traitor-Calling Case

MADRID (AP)—An army court-martial today sentenced a young Falange youth front leader to 12 years in jail for calling Gen. Francisco Franco a traitor to his face during a party ceremony.

Jose Roman Alonso Urdiales, who was on active military duty, also was sentenced to complete his military service in a penal brigade and completing the prison sentence.

Due New Industry

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Hamilton is to get a new industry because Cincinnati is extending its Central Parkway north. A spokesman for Nebel Machine Tool Corp. of Cincinnati said Tuesday the parkway will require razing the firm's present building and it plans to take new quarters in the old Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton plant here. Nebel has 40 production workers, five engineers and a payroll of about $6,000 weekly.

Firemen Assist In Food Project For 50 Families

Food is being collected at the Midland fire station and donations are asked of civic and fraternal organizations to help supply Christmas baskets for some 50 families in the Midland area.

Donations will be turned over to the Salvation Army at Rochester, which will make up the baskets. Firemen will take food, collected by the First Presbyterian Church, the Hi-Spot Youth Center and other organizations, to Rochester Friday. Firemen will distribute the baskets Friday or Saturday.

Mrs. Jack Haggerty, head of the Midland unit of the Salvation Army, forwarded names of needy families to Rochester. Those not listed may leave their name at the fire station.

Lt. Raymond Gully heads the Rochester corps. Helping with arrangements for the baskets are Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri, Harry Hulton and Paul McGeehan.

OSU To Get License For Nuclear Reactor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio State University will receive a license for its nuclear reactor in two weeks unless someone requests a hearing on the matter, the Atomic Energy Commission says. It would be good until Feb. 3, 1965.

The reactor, to be used primarily for student training in reactor physics and engineering, was constructed on the campus after the AEC gave its blessing in February. The commission contributed $280,422 for nuclear energy research at OSU, and part of this was used to build the reactor.

Court Parking Ban

ATHENS, Tenn. (AP) — The Athens City Council rejected a McMinn County Bar Assn. request for free parking by all judges, attorneys and jurors active in court cases at the County Courthouse. "Are they asking us to break the law?" asked City Manager William J. Garrett.

Dick Bordogna of Haverford, Pa., will captain the North Carolina soccer team next season.

There was no immediate comment from CAB or ICC spokesmen.

The charges in the report were in general terms and made few specific allegations against individuals. Among subcommittee charges:

1. The ICC was lax in renewing the operating certificate of Interstate Dress Carriers, Inc., a New York truck company that hauls garments, despite the company's "long history of violations of ICC regulations."

2. Alleged close relations between a trucking trade association and ICC officials in Texas and alleged favored treatment for the association in enforcing regulations. No names of companies or individuals were specified except for last names of some ICC personnel and others in several letters quoted by the subcommittee report.

3. The CAB's findings of probable cause of air accidents "are conditioned on the effect such findings may have on the promotion of civil aviation." Also, the CAB takes too long to decide economic proceedings before it and certain CAB officials have received "unusual hospitality from air carriers. . . . "Again no names were specified.

Under terms of the special resolution creating it, the subcommittee goes out of business Jan. 3. Subcommittee members reportedly have agreed not to ask that its term be extended or renewed.

Brother's Yule Gun Goes Off, Kills Sister

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Susan Hooker, 9, was shot and killed in her Detroit home Tuesday night when a Christmas shotgun her brother, 13, was holding discharged.

Michael said the gun didn't seem to work correctly Tuesday night, and he was checking it over when it suddenly went off. The charge struck his sister in the head.

Soviet Says U.S. Ship Made Mock Attack On Vessel

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has charged a U.S. destroyer made an hour-long mock attack on a Soviet freighter in the Mediterranean Nov. 4, almost causing a collision.

In a protest note delivered to the U.S. Embassy Tuesday, the Russians demanded "severe punishment for those guilty of the provocative actions."

The freighter, the Faleshty, was en route to Odessa from Marseille, France, the note said, when the destroyer made several turns nearby and then approached.

"When the U. S. destroyer was at a distance of 70 to 80 meters from the motorship and continued approaching it, the captain of the motorship had to stop the engines to prevent a collision," the note asserted.

Firemen Assist In Food Project For 50 Families

Food is being collected at the Midland fire station and donations are asked of civic and fraternal organizations to help supply Christmas baskets for some 50 families in the Midland area.

Donations will be turned over to the Salvation Army at Rochester, which will make up the baskets. Firemen will take food, collected by the First Presbyterian Church, the Hi-Spot Youth Center and other organizations, to Rochester Friday. Firemen will distribute the baskets Friday or Saturday.

Mrs. Jack Haggerty, head of the Midland unit of the Salvation Army, forwarded names of needy families to Rochester. Those not listed may leave their name at the fire station.

OSU To Get License For Nuclear Reactor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio State University will receive a license for its nuclear reactor in two weeks unless someone requests a hearing on the matter, the Atomic Energy Commission says. It would be good until Feb. 3, 1965.

The reactor, to be used primarily for student training in reactor physics and engineering, was constructed on the campus after the AEC gave its blessing in February. The commission contributed $280,422 for nuclear energy research at OSU, and part of this was used to build the reactor.

ATHENS, Tenn. (AP) — The Athens City Council rejected a McMinn County Bar Assn. request for free parking by all judges, attorneys and jurors active in court cases at the County Courthouse. "Are they asking us to break the law?" asked City Manager William J. Garrett.

Newell Tops South Side For Third Straight Cage Victory

Kiggans Fires 34 In Losing Cause

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High's Tigers became an early season upset victim Tuesday night, outhustled all the way by an unheralded Freedom squad which chalked up a 63-62 triumph.

The Tigers, who trailed from the opening moments of the third quarter, lost their first game of the season despite a superb performance by Bob Kiggans, 6-foot, 3-inch pivot star. who scored 34 points.

Though nip-and-tuck the entire distance, Freedom managed a flurry of points in the final three minutes to pull away to a slight lead.

With 37 seconds left, and the Tigers trailing, 62-56, Kiggans and starter Phil Baldwin tallied to cut the lead to only two points, 62-60.

Freedom hotshot Anthony Ciana, crew-cut, 5 - foot, 10-inch jump shooter, was fouled seconds later and converted to increase his team's lead to 63-60.

Freedom, with an unimpressive 1-4 record at game time, capitalized on Wellsville's spiritless defense with hustle and determination to pull the upset victory.

About 300 hardy fans braved snow-covered highways to reach Freedom's new gymnasium high on a hilltop to see the action.

His absence. coupled with the obvious damage of a long, 11-day layoff since their last game, found the Tigers looked ragged throughout.

The smaller Freedom squad went right to work in the first quarter on cutting down the Tigers. They had no one in the lineup to match Wellsville's rangy regulars but they overcame the height handicap with pinpoint shooting and plenty of fire.

The game developed into a scoring duel between the clever Kiggans and Freedom's Ciana who hit accuracy.

Kiggans collected 12 goals, hit for 10 of 11 free throws for 34 points, and kept the Tiger offense moving with assists. Bad passing and no fire marked the performance of his teammates, save Bill DeSarro who played one of his best defensive games.

Clutch shooting by Ciani and Len Krall enabled Freedom to cling to its scant lead in the closing quarter. The Tigers would slash the margin on a goal or foul by Kiggans, but Ciani or Krall would retaliate to protect Freedom's lead.

Behind Kiggans in scoring were Baldwin with 11 points on one goal and nine of 11 foul shots, Ben Cannadate, with eight, big Rod Ferguson and DeSarro with four each, and Wilbert Jones with one.

Coach Jack McDevitt picked Ferguson, 6-foot, 4-inch senior, to fill the lineup in place of the absent Ours but the combination failed to click. The Tiger mentor then tried pint-sized Rick Gray with no success. DeSarro hustled in his limited appearance and along with Kiggans the pair was nearly a two-man defensive unit.

The turning point appeared to develop with the start of the third period. Behind 30-27, Freedom scored three quick buckets to move ahead, 33-30. Kiggans then delivered four points on a drive shot and a pair of fouls to put Wellsville ahead again, 34-33.

Then, with Ciani hitting from all over the floor, Freedom scored nine straight points to move to a 42-34 lead. The Tigers never recovered although they closed fast in the final seconds with the brand of ball they were capable of playing.

Ciani looped 11 goals and hit seven of nine fouls to lead Freedom's scoring with 29 points. Krall hit for 14, including several goals when the score was tight in the final few minutes.

The Tigers, with a 2-1 record, now face another long layoff over the holidays, not returning to action until Jan. 3 when they visit East Liverpool.

Baldwin's fouls broke a 31-31 tie and kept the reserves of Coach Earl Firm undefeated with three in a row. Andy Dash led the scoring for the young Tigers with nine points, with Baldwin getting eight and Hoskinson seven.

Staley Tallies 22 In 65-41 Verdict

The victory gave Newell its third straight and placed the season record at 4-1, the only loss being to New Cumberland earlier this month.

Tuesday night's clash served as a warmup for the all-important battle with undefeated Beaver Local which invades the Newell court Friday.

All of Staley's scoring came from the field as the junior cager tossed in 11 field goals on shots from around the foul line and out of the corner.

Newell scored the first eight points and never was in trouble the rest of the way. The first period ended with the Vikings on top, 16-6. They stretched their lead to 29-11 by halftime and put the game on ice by sporting a 55-27 difference after three periods.

Cumberland Racks Up 5th Straight

Hale, Miller Pace Victory

NEW CUMBERLAND — One of the hottest clubs in the district—New Cumberland — received a combined scoring punch from Tom Hale and Charlie Miller to run over Brilliant, 73-66, here Tuesday night.

New Cumberland finally broke open a tight first half near the end of the second quarter. Both teams finished the first eight minutes deadlocked, 17-17.

Brilliant held a 28-27 edge near the end of the first half but Hale tossed in a two-pointer from the outside to put the Raiders ahead, 29-28, for a lead they never relinquished.

New Cumberland went on from that point to lead at halftime, 37-32, and posted a 56-44 margin after three periods.

Brilliant's defeat came despite a 30-point performance by Dick Freeland, a 5-foot-10 cager who was deadly on an outside jump shot.

East Spanks Rival, 38-20

A much superior East Junior High team nailed down a 38-20 victory over its city rival Westgate Tuesday at the East End gym.

The smooth-working outfit of Coach Dom Cascio's rolled to its fourth straight victory of the campaign. East's record in two regular season has been 16 in a row. The only blemish was a defeat suffered in the junior high tourney held here last year.

Two bad periods spoiled Westgate's chances as the Wildcats went down to their first defeat in three games. Coach Dale Wilson's club was held scoreless in the first quarter and managed only two points in the third period.

While Westgate failed to post a point in the first quarter, East Junior moved out to a 12-0 lead. In the second period, Westgate came up with 10 markers but the halftime score read, 20-10.

East Junior went on to outscore Westgate, 10-2, in the third period and showed a 30-12 margin when the quarter ended.

The big gun in East Junior's attack was Bob Mercer with 11 points. The balanced attack showed Frank McComas and Jim Smith with eight each while tall Randy Stover hooped seven. Rick Jennings added four points to round out the scoring.

Air Battle Seen In Blue-Gray Tilt

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — This year's Blue-Gray contest is expected to be an aerial battle as both teams of college stars feature top-ranking passers for the 21st annual intersectional football game here Dec. 31.

Out to avenge two consecutive defeats, the Rebels have enlisted ace passing quarterbacks Francis Tarkenton of Georgia, Norman Snead of Wake Forest and Jerry Eisaman of Kentucky.

49ers Coach Gets New 3-Year Pact, Pa Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Coach Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers got a new three-year contract Wednesday at a boost in salary for doing what a pro football coach should: win games.

Hickey had identical 7-5 records in his two seasons as 49ers head man and his team this year finished tied for second in the Western Division with Detroit.

His original 1959 contract still had a year on it.

MacKay, Buchholz Signs Professional Net Pacts

SYDNEY (AP)—U.S. Davis Cup stars Barry MacKay and Earl (Butch) Buchholz agreed to three-year $50,000 professional contracts today and took a slap at amateur tennis hypocrisy.

"I feel wonderful for the first time," said Buchholz, who at 20 is the youngest player ever to join a tour.

"All our lives we were taught honesty. It gives us a dirty feeling to take money under the table as amateurs.

"What makes it worse is that amateur tennis officials know that these abuses are taking place and they accept them."

MacKay, 25-year-old graduate of the University of Michigan, said he gave the matter plenty of thought before making a final decision.

"Amateur tennis as now constituted is a farce," he said. "I think the future of the game lies in professional tennis."

The decision leaves the U.S. Davis Cup picture in a dark state.

America probably will have to depend on Chuck McKinley, 19, St. Louis, and Dennis Ralston, 18, Bakersfield, Calif., in the cup competition next year.

Coach Of Eagles Hoping For Dry Field In Playoff

As he cast a long eye toward the weather, Shaw explained that a muddy field would give the Green Bay Packers an advantage "because of their overall running and blocking."

While he conceded that the Eagles have never been a good blocking team, Shaw called the Packers "the best in the league."

"The better the field, the better we can operate," he said, adding that the Eagles' passing by quarterback Norm Van Brocklin "far overshadows our running."

Shaw also was quick to point out that generally the Eagles' offensive line has given Van Brocklin pretty good protection.

Shaw said he was well pleased with the Eagles' one-hour practice session in Philadelphia Stadium Tuesday which was devoted entirely to offense, particularly passing. Shaw said he might install a few new plays.

Freedom Pulls Big Surprise By Upsetting Wellsville, 63-62

Newell Tops South Side For Third Straight Cage Victory

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High's Tigers became an early season upset victim Tuesday night, outhustled all the way by an unheralded Freedom squad which chalked up a 63-62 triumph.

The Tigers, who trailed from the opening moments of the third quarter, lost their first game of the season despite a superb performance by Bob Kiggans, 6-foot, 3-inch pivot star, who scored 34 points.

Though nip-and-tuck the entire distance, Freedom managed a flurry of points in the final three minutes to pull away to a slight lead.

With 37 seconds left, and the Tigers trailing, 62-56, Kiggans and starter Phil Baldwin tallied to cut the lead to only two points, 62-60.

Freedom hotshot Anthony Ciana, crew-cut, 5 - foot, 10-inch jump shooter, was fouled seconds later and converted to increase his team's lead to 63-60.

Freedom, with an unimpressive 1-4 record at game time, capitalized on Wellsville's spiritless defense with hustle and determination to pull the upset victory.

About 300 hardy fans braved snow-covered highways to reach Freedom's new gymnasium high on a hilltop to see the action.

Regular guard Roger Ours, the team leader and good outside threat, did not perform at his regular guard spot because of a death in the family.

His absence, coupled with the obvious damage of a long, 11-day layoff since their last game, found the Tigers looked ragged throughout.

The smaller Freedom squad went right to work in the first quarter on cutting down the Tigers. They had no one in the lineup to match Wellsville's rangy regulars but they overcame the height handicap with pinpoint shooting and plenty of fire.

The game developed into a scoring duel between the clever Kiggans and Freedom's Ciana who hit accuracy.

Kiggans collected 12 goals, hit for 10 of 11 free throws for 34 points, and kept the Tiger offense moving with assists. Bad passing and no fire marked the performance of his teammates, save Bill DeSarro who played one of his best defensive games.

Clutch shooting by Ciani and Len Krall enabled Freedom to cling to its scant lead in the closing quarter. The Tigers would slash the margin on a goal or foul by Kiggans, but Ciani or Krall would retaliate to protect Freedom's lead.

Behind Kiggans in scoring were Baldwin with 11 points on one goal and nine of 11 foul shots, Ben Cannadate, with eight, big Rod Ferguson and DeSarro with four each, and Wilbert Jones with one.

Coach Jack McDevitt picked Ferguson, 6-foot, 4-inch senior, to fill the lineup in place of the absent Ours but the combination failed to click. The Tiger mentor then tried pint-sized Rick Gray with no success. DeSarro hustled in his limited appearance and along with Kiggans the pair was nearly a two-man defensive unit.

The turning point appeared to develop with the start of the third period. Behind 30-27, Freedom scored three quick buckets to move ahead, 33-30. Kiggans then delivered four points on a drive shot and a pair of fouls to put Wellsville ahead again, 34-33.

Then, with Ciani hitting from all over the floor, Freedom scored nine straight points to move to a 42-34 lead. The Tigers never recovered although they closed fast in the final seconds with the brand of ball they were capable of playing.

Ciani looped 11 goals and hit seven of nine fouls to lead Freedom's scoring with 29 points. Krall hit for 14, including several goals when the score was tight in the final few minutes.

The Tigers, with a 2-1 record, now face another long layoff over the holidays, not returning to action until Jan. 3 when they visit East Liverpool.

Staley Tallies 22 In 65-41 Verdict

The victory gave Newell its third straight and placed the season record at 4-1, the only loss being to New Cumberland earlier this month.

Tuesday night's clash served as a warmup for the all-important battle with undefeated Beaver Local which invades the Newell court Friday.

All of Staley's scoring came from the field as the junior cager tossed in 11 field goals on shots from around the foul line and out of the corner.

Newell scored the first eight points and never was in trouble the rest of the way. The first period ended with the Vikings on top, 16-6. They stretched their lead to 29-11 by halftime and put the game on ice by sporting a 55-27 difference after three periods.

Aliquippa Five Gains Edge In Fourth Period

The final tie came at 42-42 when the third quarter ended, but Aliquippa drew first blood in the final period and then grabbed a lead it never lost throughout the final eight minutes.

Midland broke on top in last night's encounter, 14-13, at the first quarter pole but relinquished the lead by halftime, 32-29.

Midland outdid its opponents in the shooting department by firing 21 of 47 for 44 per cent while Aliquippa shot 39 per cent on 22 of 64.

Akron Trounces Youngstown U. In Tourney Finals

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Akron University's Zippers copped the fifth annual Akron Invitational Basketball Tournament Tuesday night with an easy 79-63 victory over Youngstown, which had lost only once in seven previous games.

It was the fourth time in five years Akron has won the event, and it gave the Zips a 4-2 record for this season.

Consolation winner was Morris Harvey of Charleston, W.Va., which thumped Muskingum 90-79 as Bruce Hewitt, a 6-foot-1 junior, tallied 31 points for the West Virginians. With 17 he scored Monday night, Hewitt won individual scoring honors for the tournament.

Alex Adams, Boe Greene and Terry Marsh each made 20 points in the final against Youngstown. The Zips moved from a 10-10 tie to a 20-10 lead in the first 10 minutes of play and never were headed thereafter.

Green Bay Gears Defense To Stop Eagles' Passer

"We've got to stop Van Brocklin and his passing to (Tommy) McDonald and (Pete) Retzlaff," Vince Lombardi emphasized as he sent his players through a rugged drill on the frozen turf here Tuesday.

Van Brocklin is the quarterback of the Philadelphia Eagles who will meet the Packers in the National Football League title game next Monday. It will be the first championship game for the Packers since 1944.

Lombardi said that in addition to breaking up the overhead game the Packers have to stop the Eagles' ground attack.

"They (the Eagles) have shown mobility on the ground, too," he said. "Billy Barnes and rookie Red Dean are not only excellent receivers, but they are fast runners."

Quits Braves For LA

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves announced Tuesday night that Francis X. Leary has resigned as assistant treasurer, secretary and a director of the Milwaukee National League club to become treasurer of the new Los Angeles club of the American League.

Providence Star Sinks Winning Fielder Again

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Hadnot suddenly has become unbeaten Providence's "has all" in leading the Friars to their last four victories, three of them cliffhangers.

Hadnot, a 6-foot 10 junior, scored 39 points Tuesday night, and the final two came with one second remaining and pulled out an 81-80 victory over Gonzaga.

Last Saturday he got the clinching basket with 10 seconds left as Providence beat Canisius 53-50. His two baskets in an overtime period against San Francisco gave the Friars a lead they never lost in a 54-47 victory. His first-half scoring helped sink Santa Clara 65-59 two nights before.

Providence gets its next big test against St. John's Redmen in New York's Holiday Festival next week. St. John's, ranked sixth in the current Associated Press poll, moved its record to 5-0 with an 87-56 victory over Pitt Tuesday night.

Indiana, ranked fourth, defeated Notre Dame 74-69 for Coach Branch McCracken's 300th basketball victory as Hoosier head coach. None of the other top teams were in action.

Another Big Ten power, Purdue, led by Terry Dischinger's 43 points, beat Evansville NCAA small college champs 84-75. Don Kojis led Marquette to a 70-62 victory over Iowa State while Northwestern's 53-45 victory over Washington cracked a four-game losing streak.

Mark Dumars, a 5-10 sharpshooter, sparked Penn State with 36 points in a 77-58 victory over Syracuse. Jeff Cohen scored 27 points for William & Mary's 80-50 lacing of winless Virginia. The Cavaliers are 0-7 this year and have lost 21 of their last 22 games.

Brigham Young held high-scoring Kansas star Wayne Hightower to only two field goals in an 80-70 victory, while little Max Perry scored 27 points in Utah State's record-breaking 110-88 win over Los Angeles State. Wisconsin won over Nevada 89-56, Connecticut upset Brown 85-71, The Citadel beat Georgia Southern 90-84 and East Tennessee State surprised Georgia 69-67.

4th Straight Rushing Crown Won By Brown

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's great back, has won the rushing title in the National Football League for the fourth straight year. He is the first four-time winner since Steve Van Buren of Philadelphia in 1945, 1947, 1948 and 1949.

Brown's gains against New York in Sunday's finale and the decision of the Green Bay team to emphasize passing instead of Jim Taylor's running nailed the title for the Cleveland fullback. Brown finished with 1,257 yards on 215 attempts, an average of 5.8 yards a carry. Taylor gained 1,101 yards for a 4.8 average.

John Crow of St. Louis, Nick Pietrosante of Detroit and J.D. Smith of San Francisco followed in that order.

Milt Plum, the Browns' quarterback, won the passing crown. He was first in completions (60.4 per cent), first in average gain (9.19 yards), lowest in interceptions (2.0 per cent) and third in completions (151), yards gained (2,297) and touchdown passes (21).

Norm Van Brocklin, Philadelpha's fine passer, edged Baltimore's Johnny Unitas for second honors. Billy Wade of Los Angeles was fourth and Bobby Layne of Pittsburgh fifth.

T. V. Lark, winner of nine races in 22 starts in 1960, earned $393,900 during the year.

Midland outdid its opponents in the shooting department by firing 21 of 47 for 44 per cent while Aliquippa shot 39 per cent on 22 of 64.

Former Harvard Roommate

B. A. Smith, 43, Picked For Kennedy Senate Seat

BOSTON (AP) — Benjamin A. Smith II, 43, a former Harvard roommate of President-elect John F. Kennedy, has been tapped to fill out the two years remaining of Kennedy's Senate term.

Smith, a former mayor of Gloucester and currently a manufacturer in that seaport city, was notified of the appointment Tuesday night by Kennedy himself.

Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo announced late Tuesday he would name Smith to the U. S. Senate "at the suggestion of President-elect Kennedy."

Smith said the first word he had received of the appointment was a direct telephone call from Kennedy from his winter headquarters in Palm Beach, Fla.

Smith said Kennedy will resign his Senate seat Jan. 3 and that Smith would take over on the same day, giving him seniority over other freshmen senators due to be sworn in a day later.

Smith became acquainted with Kennedy when both were students at Harvard. They shared a room in Harvard's Winthrop House with Torbert H. MacDonald, now a Democratic congressman from Massachusetts.

Smith graduated in 1939, one year ahead of Kennedy, and like Kennedy served as a naval lieutenant in the Pacific during World War II.

Smith's interest in politics began in 1951 when he was elected to the Gloucester School Committee. His political activity was at the local level until 1956 when he was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

In the last national convention Smith was in charge of the Kennedy drive among delegates from South Carolina and Kansas.

Red China's Lin Vows To Halt U.S. Action In Laos

TOKYO (AP) — Red Chinese Defense Minister Lin Piao declared today that Communist China will do all it can to "put a stop to U.S. imperialism's intervention and aggression in Laos."

Peiping radio said Marshal Lin's pledge was made in a message to Vo Nguyen Giap, vice premier and defense minister of Communist North Viet Nam. The message saluted the 16th anniversary—on Dec. 22—of the founding of the North Vietnamese Army.

The broadcast did not say how far the Red Chinese would go in aiding pro-communist Laotian forces opposing the forces of pro-Western Gen. Phoumi Nosavan and Premier Prince Boun Oum. The United States has resumed economic and military aid to Laos since Phoumi's forces won control of Vientiane, the Laotian administrative capital, last week.

2 Salesmen Fined For No Permits

Two young Pennsylvania encyclopedia salesmen were fined $25 and costs each Tuesday afternoon by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when they pleaded guilty to lack of city salesman's licenses.

Donald H. Colhover, 21, of McKees Rocks and Richard W. McGary of Canonsburg were taken into custody Friday night on Thompson Ave. after police said they received four complaints and enquiries about their activities.

Judge Chertoff said he was convinced the two "are legitimate salesmen for a legitimate company." The defendants told the court their district manager generally clears the way by obtaining necessary local permits before they begin sales in a community.

The men also told the court that they did not enter any homes here. In each case they delivered their sales talks at the door, they said. The two had been free on $56 bonds pending the hearings.

Santa To Arrive In Bulldozer For Cincinnati Couple

CINCINNATI (AP)—Santa Claus will arrive in a bulldozer for a couple in eastern Cincinnati this year.

He may arrive a few days after Christmas, too, but Mr. and Mrs. Martin O'Neill say they won't mind the delay.

Construction crews dumped the dirt in the driveway last month in work on an extension of Columbia Parkway.

The O'Neills said they couldn't make much headway with state officials at first. "Now the state seems anxious to help us," said Mrs. O'Neill, adding:

"They've told us they will make us a drive, build us a new garage and get out the car."

Both the O'Neills and state highway officials were confident the problem would be licked shortly after Christmas.

Hamilton GOP Spent $121,993 In Election

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Hamilton County Republican organization says it spent $121,993 in the November election campaign and went in the hole by $17,066. The GOP reported to the county election board Monday.

GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon carried the county and Republicans won all county offices except sheriff and a County Commission berth.

Seeks Fund Help

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Salvation Army in Cincinnati has finally asked for money help, saying Christmas shoppers don't seem to be putting coins in the Christmas kettles as often as expected. A spokesman said the army needs about $8,000 to meet its goal of $22,000 for a Christmas for those down on their luck. He said increased unemployment has brought more applications for help.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Books Make Good Gifts For Children

If you have a child nearly two years old or older, be sure to include some attractive books among his Christmas gifts. As you know, a number of publishers are bringing out wonderful and beautiful books for children — books with many pictures for the tiny child, pictures he likes to look at alone or while an older person talks with him about them. Some of these books have a few words or prose or rhymes related to the pictures. Some little children not yet two years old enjoy these books.

Dr. Garry Meyers

While they look at the pictures they also like to hear the older child or parents talk about the illustrations, often talking from the words in the book-reading.

—:—

HOW WONDERFUL it is for the child from two to five to look at the pictures as he listens! For several years before he enters school, even much later, he may beg to be read to from these lovely books.

He may be read to by a parent, an older child or a baby-sitter. And the books you buy for him this Christmas he may enjoy for several years.

Go to your public library or bookstore to find samples of the best books from which to read to the baby and young child and for the school-age child to read alone. You may also find some of them at a newstand or drug store.

Although some of the best books may be borrowed from your local library, your child three, 10 or 14 will want to have some books of his very own right at home — precious Christmas gifts.

BE SURE to include some books which have stood the test of time. Not all the best books are current ones.

For the family of growing children, a good desk dictionary is a must; an unabridged dictionary may be still better. And there are several excellent children's encyclopedias useful for the school-age child, even for the parents to find answers to questions by their children as young as two or three.

Available, too, are several excellent children's magazines, coming to the child throughout the year. Not all of them are on the newsstand but may be had by subscription.

Any magazine agent can get them for you. Some of them have pictured items appealing even to the preschool child.

And for the child who can read, they have a strong interest appeal, being different from his school books.

SOME HAVE stories and other picture features that will captivate the listening, non - reading child.

All contain stories and other attractive material good for helping the child learn to read and read better, and information for supplementing regular school work.

Exercise Helps Ease Stress And Strain

President - elect John Kennedy is on the receiving end of much advice as newly-elected head of our government. Dr. Paul Dudley White, noted heart specialist, gave him advice on exercise in a recent interview. Dr. White emphasized that Mr. Kennedy should play golf or take some form of exercise that requires bodily motion.

By Ida Jean Kain

Research and investigation into how the body functions show that exercise plays a role in relieving stress, controlling weight, possibly lowering blood cholesterol and helping one feel fit.

There is no question but that our sedentary life has robbed us of the natural way to relieve stress and strain. To explain: When certain general stresses are placed on the body, either emotional or physical, the body sets up a reaction to these shocks.

CERTAIN GLANDS in the body combat this stress with a countershock mechanism. This countershock mechanism functions better to relieve stress if the big muscles of the body are exercised.

Few people can walk to work today because distances are too great. But would they if they could? Since our everyday way of life no longer provides the exercise needed, we must devise ways to get sufficient bodily movement. Such exercise should be taken regularly, two or three times a week, continuously throughout life. Such exercise should be active but not overly tiring.

Regular exercise, according to Dr. White, makes you physically tired and, when you get really physically tired, you don't have stress.

However, recent research in England showed that, after a meal high in fat, blood plasma cleared faster with bicycling or walking than with rest. The researchers therefore felt that exercise might be helpful to persons inclined to atherosclerosis.

Weight control is another important factor in the prevention of heart disease. A walk of just one mile every day can fend off as much as 10 pounds, which might otherwise pile on in a single year.

FIGURE THIS way: By walking one mile, you burn approximately 100 calories. Walk a mile every day for a year and you've burned 36,500 calories. There are 3,500 calories in a pound of body fat, so that's ten pounds you've walked away.

Some rugged individualists get their exercise by bicycling to work. Dr. White belongs to this group. A friend of mine has adopted this practice, too. He says it doesn't take long to get used to it. The feeling of well-being and exuberance that he's experienced, since taking up this practice, makes it most rewarding.

Since exercise is needed to relieve stress and control weight, it is obvious we should take the time to get some form of regular physical exercise.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I give diamond jewelry a real professional cleaning?

A. Boil in soapsuds. Use mild white flakes (not too many) and a few drops of ammonia. When solution has come to a boil, place the diamonds in a wire tea strainer and dip it into the suds for a minute or two. Let cool, then rinse carefully. Next dip into a small bowl of alcohol, to cut remaining film, and let it in jeweler's sawdust, or on tissue paper, to dry. The alcohol evaporates in an instant, leaving your diamonds sparkling like new love.

Q. How can I clean bricks that have become stained by smoke?

A. Mix 2 ounces soda, 1 ounce pumice stone, 1 ounce salt, with sufficient water to make a cream. Rub the bricks well with this mixture, allow to stand for a few minutes, then brush off with a stiff brush.

2 Evergreens Placed At City Hall's Entrance

Two live evergreens planted in large wooden containers have been placed in front of the main entrance to City Hall, a permanent replacement for two large metal light standards that were removed several months ago after their bases rusted and the wiring became faulty.

Donated to the city by Charles Plate of Wellsville, the trees were planted in wooden containers built by street department crews. For the Christmas season, the trees were decorated with colored light bulbs by Electrician Fred Kane and George Fone, his assistant.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Books Make Good Gifts For Children

If you have a child nearly two years old or older, be sure to include some attractive books among his Christmas gifts. As you know, a number of publishers are bringing out wonderful and beautiful books for children — books with many pictures for the tiny child, pictures he likes to look at alone or while an older person talks with him about them. Some of these books have a few words or prose or rhymes related to the pictures. Some little children not yet two years old enjoy these books.

Dr. Garry Meyers

While they look at the pictures they also like to hear the older child or parents talk about the illustrations, often talking from the words in the book-reading.

—:—

HOW WONDERFUL it is for the child from two to five to look at the pictures as he listens! For several years before he enters school, even much later, he may beg to be read to from these lovely books.

He may be read to by a parent, an older child or a baby-sitter. And the books you buy for him this Christmas he may enjoy for several years.

Go to your public library or bookstore to find samples of the best books from which to read to the baby and young child and for the school-age child to read alone. You may also find some of them at a newstand or drug store.

Although some of the best books may be borrowed from your local library, your child three, 10 or 14 will want to have some books of his very own right at home — precious Christmas gifts.

BE SURE to include some books which have stood the test of time. Not all the best books are current ones.

For the family of growing children, a good desk dictionary is a must; an unabridged dictionary may be still better. Mort Answers, But No One's There

Hal Humphrey

"It's wild," says Mort. "They must have had 80 guys surveying my home for three days. I talked to a writer, a director and a policeman who said he would be there to keep the crowds away. Somebody else checked to see what time the sun hit my front yard. I even had my mom and dad coming down from San Francisco to be on it with me.

"Then, on the day they were supposed to come with the cameras, I get a call from Chuck Collingwood. He apologizes and tells me that 'Person to Person' is gone after this week. Is that wild?"

MORT WASN'T too disappointed ("I didn't want to get up at 8 in the morning anyway") and he always can save some of the lines he thought up for it and use them in his night club routine.

"Chuck was going to ask me where I think the world is going and my answer was, 'Promise them anything, but give them Dean Rusk,' " Mort quips.

Actually, Mort is disturbed about some of his fellow Democrats. He had, depended upon them, he says, to revive political humor.

"But now they are cautioning me not to make jokes about Kennedy," says Mort. " 'Don't forget,' they say, 'you wouldn't have wanted Nixon.' I don't get these wild rationalizations."

HE ISN'T about to declare a moratorium on jokes aimed at either the Republicans or Democrats, and for that everyone should be happy.

"Don't worry about anything," says Mort, reassuringly. "Soon Jim Hagerty will be on the job at ABC. I understand the network hired him to inject wit and humor into its shows."

THE BOOT COMPANY which makes high-class and high-heeled cowboy boots, penned a stinging rebuke to Roger (Beau Maverick) Moore for making light of their craftmanship.

In a moment of jest, Moore had told some visiting TV critics that the cowboys of the Ol' West were cantankerous and went around shooting people because their boots always hurt them. The boot people didn't think this was funny at all.

"My agent said I should do something on a network TV show just to prove to Hollywood that I haven't gotten fat and gray," Wendy explains.

So, "The Islanders" has her cast as an alcoholic, and $5 will get you $10 that six months from now some producer who is offered Wendy for a part will say, "I dunno, I hear she's a lush."

By the way, Wendy pitched the commercials on "$64,000 Question" for 13 weeks and says she never suspected anyone was being slipped answers.

THE HOLLYWOOD movie premiere soon will be as extinct as a dinosaur. Last week's "World of Suzie Wong" prem-yair at Grauman's Chinese theater was so dull that Jack Linkletter and Variety columnist Army Archerd wound up interviewing each other before the half-hour Hollywood telecast was over.

Jayne Mansfield was the biggest name they could find to interview in the foyer festivities. Hugh O'Brian and Nancy Kwan (star of "Wong") were late arriving, because her plane was delayed. Co-star Bill Holden played it smart. He stayed in Africa.

A FELLOW wearing a skin diving outfit and carrying a briefcase was seen leaving Desi Arnaz' office at Desilu studios the other afternoon.

Lamb Says Offer To Buy Shares 'Oversubscribed'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Edward O. Lamb, Toledo financier, said that by the 3 p.m. deadline Tuesday his Nov. 28 offer to buy 45,000 common shares of Seiberling Rubber Co. had been "well oversubscribed."

Lamb already had listed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a holding of 110,000 Seiberling common shares—the largest individual holding in the tire company which did a $55 million business last year.

To buy the 45,000 shares, Lamb offered $13 a share. The stock was listed at $10.37 when he made the offer and closed Tuesday on the New York exchange at $11.87. There are 587,626 outstanding shares of Seiberling common.

The additional shares will enable Lamb to seat another director on the firm's board, a spokesman for Seiberling Rubber said earlier this week. Four of the firm's 15 directors are lined up with Lamb.

In a statement issued Tuesday, Lamb said he would "not be goaded into a proxy fight." He added: "Our sole interest is to improve the management, facilities and fortunes of Seiberling Rubber Co. In this respect, I think we are like any other stockholder."

Salvation Army Says Yule Needs Here Will Be Heavy

With names of people in dire circumstances being submitted at the greatest rate in years, Salvation Army Maj. William Hathorn pointed out today there will be no Christmas for many unless the "Army" aids them.

Atty. Joseph W. Cooper, chairman of the Salvation Army's annual Christmas appeal, also urged contributions, suggesting residents can make their own holiday brighter by helping those less fortunate.

"There is so much unemployment and so many layoffs in addition to sickness and disability that many people in our community are in dire circumstances and unless we help there will be no Christmas for them," Maj. Hathorn said.

"Names have been turned in at a greater pace than we've seen for years," the Salvation Army leader said, but donations during the last week have been very slow. "They are far behind last year," he said.

The "Army" already has a list of 190 names and expects it to surpass 200. It has placed orders for enough to care for 175 families, Maj. Hathorn said.

Some 300 "sunshine baskets" have been packed for rest homes and hospitals and will be distributed this week by the League of Mercy. Boxes also have been mailed to servicemen and a party arranged for the Ladies Home League and Cradle Roll.

Women's classes and groups in the city have dressed 150 new dolls while Mrs. Margaret Griffith and her daughter, Miss Bonnie Seaman, have renovated 80 old dolls and dressed them in new clothes.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce "Toys for Tots" program will provide new toys for more than 500 children, Maj. Hathorn said.

In his appeal, Atty. Cooper pointed out most people accept the theory that a gift itself is not important but the spirit behind it is what counts.

"But for the children and adults in our community who have relatively little, the spirit and the gift are of equal importance. A gross of silver spoons delivered to the unfortunate would be an empty, futile gesture," the chairman said.

"There are many things these people need — and need desperately. But we are in no position to set up a list of appropriate gifts. The Salvation Army is in such a position. It knows the people and knows what they need and want," he continued.

"When you give to the Salvation Army's Christmas appeal, you can be sure you are giving to those less fortunate the most effective gifts, the proper gifts, chosen with wisdom and care against a background of knowledge and love. You can share your own happy Christmas in the best possible manner by sending a contribution today," he concluded.

Mort Answers, But No One's There

Hal Humphrey

"It's wild," says Mort. "They must have had 80 guys surveying my home for three days. I talked to a writer, a director and a policeman who said he would be there to keep the crowds away. Somebody else checked to see what time the sun hit my front yard. I even had my mom and dad coming down from San Francisco to be on it with me.

"Then, on the day they were supposed to come with the cameras, I get a call from Chuck Collingwood. He apologizes and tells me that 'Person to Person' is gone after this week. Is that wild?"

MORT WASN'T too disappointed ("I didn't want to get up at 8 in the morning anyway") and he always can save some of the lines he thought up for it and use them in his night club routine.

"Chuck was going to ask me where I think the world is going and my answer was, 'Promise them anything, but give them Dean Rusk,'" Mort quips.

Actually, Mort is disturbed about some of his fellow Democrats. He had, depended upon them, he says, to revive political humor.

"But now they are cautioning me not to make jokes about Kennedy," says Mort. "'Don't forget,' they say, 'you wouldn't have wanted Nixon.' I don't get these wild rationalizations."

HE ISN'T about to declare a moratorium on jokes aimed at either the Republicans or Democrats, and for that everyone should be happy.

"Don't worry about anything," says Mort, reassuringly. "Soon Jim Hagerty will be on the job at ABC. I understand the network hired him to inject wit and humor into its shows."

THE BOOT COMPANY which makes high-class and high-heeled cowboy boots, penned a stinging rebuke to Roger (Beau Maverick) Moore for making light of their craftmanship.

In a moment of jest, Moore had told some visiting TV critics that the cowboys of the Ol' West were cantankerous and went around shooting people because their boots always hurt them. The boot people didn't think this was funny at all.

"My agent said I should do something on a network TV show just to prove to Hollywood that I haven't gotten fat and gray," Wendy explains.

So, "The Islanders" has her cast as an alcoholic, and $5 will get you $10 that six months from now some producer who is offered Wendy for a part will say, "I dunno, I hear she's a lush."

By the way, Wendy pitched the commercials on "$64,000 Question" for 13 weeks and says she never suspected anyone was being slipped answers.

"When they wouldn't give me a contract, I quit," Wendy says.

See? Even the producers didn't know if they'd be on another week!

THE HOLLYWOOD movie premiere soon will be as extinct as a dinosaur. Last week's "World of Suzie Wong" prem-yair at Grauman's Chinese theater was so dull that Jack Linkletter and Variety columnist Army Archerd wound up interviewing each other before the half-hour Hollywood telecast was over.

Jayne Mansfield was the biggest name they could find to interview in the foyer festivities. Hugh O'Brian and Nancy Kwan (star of "Wong") were late arriving, because her plane was delayed. Co-star Bill Holden played it smart. He stayed in Africa.

A FELLOW wearing a skin diving outfit and carrying a briefcase was seen leaving Desi Arnaz' office at Desilu studios the other afternoon.

Lamb Says Offer To Buy Shares 'Oversubscribed'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Edward O. Lamb, Toledo financier, said that by the 3 p.m. deadline Tuesday his Nov. 28 offer to buy 45,000 common shares of Seiberling Rubber Co. had been "well oversubscribed."

Lamb already had listed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a holding of 110,000 Seiberling common shares—the largest individual holding in the tire company which did a $55 million business last year.

To buy the 45,000 shares, Lamb offered $13 a share. The stock was listed at $10.37 when he made the offer and closed Tuesday on the New York exchange at $11.87. There are 587,626 outstanding shares of Seiberling common.

The additional shares will enable Lamb to seat another director on the firm's board, a spokesman for Seiberling Rubber said earlier this week. Four of the firm's 15 directors are lined up with Lamb.

In a statement issued Tuesday, Lamb said he would "not be goaded into a proxy fight." He added: "Our sole interest is to improve the management, facilities and fortunes of Seiberling Rubber Co. In this respect, I think we are like any other stockholder."

Blessed Art Thou, Mary . . .

Holy Ghost Appears Before Mary

The Annunciation of Mary is one of the dramatic moments that led up to the first Christmas nearly 2,000 years ago. Here, adapted from non-canonical documents highly regarded by the early church, is an account of how that event may have occurred.

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A shaft of sunlight poured down from the high window. Mary sang softly to herself as she moved the shuttle to and fro, filling the weft of the true purple. Her heart was high. Her work was good.

She tilted her head from side to side with the cadence of her singing. How nimbly raced her fingers, how richly sparkled the velvet. It grew with each crossing of the yarn, as if it, too, had life and promise.

A trace of a smile curved her lips. O Lord, thou art ever bountiful. Like unto this fabric, she too, advanced toward completion. Soon Joseph would return, and together they would plan for the day of wedding.

The memory of his fond leave-taking brought color to her cheeks.

"I go away to build my buildings," he had said, "and I will come again unto thee." He looked down on her warmly, his bronzed brow knit with protective concern. "The Lord shall watch over thee."

—:—

MUSING contentedly, she paused in her weaving. She leaned back her head, her eyes closed, her face upturned, caressed by the cascade of sun. At that moment, she started.

Mary!

She sat up, sharply attentive. She had heard, but heard not. Here in her private chamber, alone with her thread and thoughts, she sensed some further presence, some calling round about, some unfallen footstep.

She quit the loom and hastened across the floor to the doorway. She pushed the portier aside, listening. There was nothing except the smoke curling from the brazier, a cup left empty on the table.

She frowned, pressing her fingers to her temples. She must have dreamt it. O Lord, shield thy servant from vain imaginings. Assuredly, her idle reflections had brought that twinge of fantasy.

She sighed and strolled back to her yarn basket, running her fingers meditatively through the soft texture. It soothed and tingled the flesh like featherdown. A delicate gift for her Lord.

She was greatly honored that the priests had appointed her to weave the true purple for the Temple halls. Five other virgins of Nazareth, Rebecah, Zipporah, Susanna, Abigea and Cael, also spun and embroidered Temple draperies.

BUT THEY wrought the blue, the golden, the fine linen and silk, while to Mary had gone the distinction of fashioning the scarlet and true purple. She clasped her fingers under her chin. O Lord, pray that these hands ever please thee.

She noticed the slant of the sun, the ninth hour. Each day, she customarily prayed until the third hour in midmorning, then wove until the ninth in midafternoon. Thereafter she attended to the household of Joseph, the duties of grinding grain, cultivating the garden, kneading dough, baking, cleaning, washing linen for his children.

They were loving little taphs, Simon, James, Joses anad the others. She drew on her veil, picked up the waterjar, and perching it on her head, went out of the house and down the hill toward the well.

"Fear not, Mary, for thou hast found favor with God."

Plumes of smoke drifted from open doors of the limestone houses. Birds darted and trilled in the sunlight. A group of women washed and carded wool. In the distance, she could hear the clang of tools in metalshops, the lowing of kine.

She savored the peace and beauty of it all. How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts. The green valley stretched away below the fig orchard, and children shouted at play in the leafy arbors.

The day, its joy and peace, transported her, and she moved on, skipping gleefully a step or two. Ach! She braced her waterjar precariously, laughing.

And then it came again, that stabbing, unsubstantial thing.

Hearken, Mary! Give heed!

Her body stiffened, and her gaze cast about, but she saw no one. It was as if some spirit approached, some form she could not discern, some voice she could not comprehend. O Lord God, have mercy. . .

—:—

SOMETHING had bewitched her, some uncanny power. She walked on rapidly, her face white and strained. She would be done with girlish rhapsodizing. She must fetch her water and be on with her work.

Other women passed, turning to stare at her perplexedly, as she rushed on. O Lord God of Abraham, Father of us all, lend thy help.

She lowered her jar, and with trembling fingers, fastened the rope to the handles. She let it down, her lips moving soundlessly. Lord God, scatter this darkness, vouchsafe thy refuge.

The jar filled slowly, exasperatingly slow. She bit her lip, her eyes darting desperately about. She still was aware of some throbbing in the air, some rigorous, overwhelming constraint, lancing her to the very center of her being, a gathering force charging over her like a rush of wings. God, Lord God!

Hail!

Hail, thou that are highly favored!

The presence, the inexorability of it, clung to her as she ran,, stumbling, crying, racing in terror. In her chamber, she fell to her knees, covering her face, and again the visitation spoke.

Her voice was a frightened wail.

"Hear me and deliver my soul, you who are the God of my salvation."

—:—

Fear not, Mary.

A silence and then again that commanding reassurance.

Fear not, Mary, for thou hast found favor with God!

Slowly, and at length, her body became less rigid, but sobs still rose from deep within her.

Behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call him Jesus.

Slowly, she sat up, her face pleading, stricken.

He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Most High. . .

She shook her head, bewildered, trembling, not intending to speak, yet speaking, her voice like a puzzled child's, simple, detached. "How shall this be, seeing I know not a man?"

. . the power of the Most High shall overshadow thee.

Again, her voice seemed to rise by its own force, remote, yet inward, controlling, without question.". . .Be it unto me according to thy word." She was pulled, hurled; she had flung herself into an unexplainable, deeply personal and profound unknown.

The full shock did not come to her until later. That night she cried and tossed on her couch until dawn, alternating ecstatic, incredulous and frightened. Shortly afterward, she packed a few belongings and fled Nazareth.

No one there, no relatives, nor friends, could hope to understand. And she thought of Joseph returning now filled her with panic.

She went to a mountain settlement where now dwelt the old priest, Zechariah, who had schooled her since childhood in the mysteries of God, and his wife, Elizabeth, who had comforted her through youth.

She remained there three months, and held her head proudly.

But dread again came over her when she returned to Nazareth, and she hid herself in the house. When she faced Joseph, on hiss return, she had been with child for six months.

She dropped her jar, throwing her arm over her eyes against the light, and fled blindly back toward the house.

The presence, the inexorability of it, clung to her as she ran,, stumbling, crying, racing in terror. In her chamber, she fell to her knees, covering her face, and again the visitation spoke.

She crumpled to the floor, shaking.

"O Lord," she cried "bow to the prayers of thy slave."

Her voice was a frightened wail.

"Hear me and deliver my soul, you who are the God of my salvation."

—:—

Fear not, Mary.

A silence and then again that commanding reassurance.

Fear not, Mary, for thou hast found favor with God!

Slowly, and at length, her body became less rigid, but sobs still rose from deep within her.

Behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call him Jesus.

Slowly, she sat up, her face pleading, stricken.

He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Most High. . .

She shook her head, bewildered, trembling, not intending to speak, yet speaking, her voice like a puzzled child's, simple, detached. "How shall this be, seeing I know not a man?"

. . the power of the Most High shall overshadow thee.

Again, her voice seemed to rise by its own force, remote, yet inward, controlling, without question.". . .Be it unto me according to thy word." She was pulled, hurled; she had flung herself into an unexplainable, deeply personal and profound unknown.

The full shock did not come to her until later. That night she cried and tossed on her couch until dawn, alternating ecstatic, incredulous and frightened. Shortly afterward, she packed a few belongings and fled Nazareth.

No one there, no relatives, nor friends, could hope to understand. And she thought of Joseph returning now filled her with panic.

She went to a mountain settlement where now dwelt the old priest, Zechariah, who had schooled her since childhood in the mysteries of God, and his wife, Elizabeth, who had comforted her through youth.

Mary buried her face on her cousin's breast, and the older woman stroked her hair, the fright subsided, and a pent-up joy burst in her.

She remained there three months, and held her head proudly.

But dread again came over her when she returned to Nazareth, and she hid herself in the house. When she faced Joseph, on hiss return, she had been with child for six months.

Ballot Proposal Loses

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Voters at a special election in Wickliffe Tuesday defeated 1,414 to 779 a proposal that the party ballot be used in municipal elections. Also defeated by wide margins were two other proposed amendments to the city charter. One would have given Council authority to levy unvoted taxes up to 6 mills for operating purposes.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm the father of five children. My wife thinks children should be forced to eat everything that is put on the table. When the platters are passed if the children do not take a helping of everything offered my wife puts it on their plates.

If they don't clean their plates she makes them sit at the table, sometimes for as long as two hours. Dinner time at our house is getting to be a nightmare. The kids start to cry the minute they sit down at the table. Sometimes I get so upset I can't eat a bite.

My wife says her brother was a finicky eater and she's going to see to it that her kids grow up to like everything. Please tell me if she's right or wrong.—NERVOUS DAD.

Dear Dad: Finicky eaters are a nuisance but your wife's approach couldn't be worse. Forcing food on children is no way to get them to like it. It's a sure device for getting them to hate it.

Urge your wife to get professional guidance at once. Any doctor will tell her she's rearing her children to despise food and meal time.

No Help Wanted

Dear Ann: I'm a divorced woman who has been going with a man for three years. For two years I was ignorant about his church and believed him when he said we couldn't be married in his church. Then he decided his mother would not accept me regardless.

He has stood me up on dates and lied about where he had been. I've loaned him several hundred dollars and he has made no effort to repay me.

I have a hunch I've been subsidizing a secret romance between him and a young carhop but he denies everything. Right now I'm on nerve pills and under a doctor's care.

I need advice but don't tell me to stop seeing him. I love the louse and there never will be anyone else for me. Please give me some help.—RUTH.

Dear Ruth: I can't help you. You won't let me. The only solution to your problem is to break up with the man but you don't want to. He has all the qualities of a dog except loyalty. And you enjoy the abuse.

Normal For 15

Dear Ann: My mother reads your column every day and so do I. Please print this for both of us.

I am 15 and have never had a date but I talk about boys a lot. Does this mean I am boy crazy? My mother hears me talk on the telephone and then she starts with the boy crazy bit. Please give us your opinion.—NORMAL I THINK.

Dear Normal—I THINK, TOO: A 15-year-old gal who never has had a date is not boy crazy if she merely talks about boys. Interest in the male animal is par for the course at 15.

Crowning Glory

Dear Ann: You'll probably think I'm silly but I would like a little advice on a trivial matter. I'm on the lyin' side of 40, considered attractive and most people think I'm about 33.

My hair is starting to turn gray and I abhor the thought of dying it. Is there anything else that can be done with gray hair?—PHYLIS.

Dear Phylis: Yes. You can admire it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm the father of five children. My wife thinks children should be forced to eat everything that is put on the table. When the platters are passed if the children do not take a helping of everything offered my wife puts it on their plates.

If they don't clean their plates she makes them sit at the table, sometimes for as long as two hours. Dinner time at our house is getting to be a nightmare. The kids start to cry the minute they sit down at the table. Sometimes I get so upset I can't eat a bite.

My wife says her brother was a finicky eater and she's going to see to it that her kids grow up to like everything. Please tell me if she's right or wrong.—NERVOUS DAD.

Dear Dad: Finicky eaters are a nuisance but your wife's approach couldn't be worse. Forcing food on children is no way to get them to like it. It's a sure device for getting them to hate it.

Urge your wife to get professional guidance at once. Any doctor will tell her she's rearing her children to despise food and meal time.

No Help Wanted

Dear Ann: I'm a divorced woman who has been going with a man for three years. For two years I was ignorant about his church and believed him when he said we couldn't be married in his church. Then he decided his mother would not accept me regardless.

He has stood me up on dates and lied about where he had been. I've loaned him several hundred dollars and he has made no effort to repay me.

I have a hunch I've been subsidizing a secret romance between him and a young carhop but he denies everything. Right now I'm on nerve pills and under a doctor's care.

I need advice but don't tell me to stop seeing him. I love the louse and there never will be anyone else for me. Please give me some help.—RUTH.

Dear Ruth: I can't help you. You won't let me. The only solution to your problem is to break up with the man but you don't want to. He has all the qualities of a dog except loyalty. And you enjoy the abuse.

Normal For 15

Dear Ann: My mother reads your column every day and so do I. Please print this for both of us.

I am 15 and have never had a date but I talk about boys a lot. Does this mean I am boy crazy? My mother hears me talk on the telephone and then she starts with the boy crazy bit. Please give us your opinion.—NORMAL I THINK.

Dear Normal—I THINK, TOO: A 15-year-old gal who never has had a date is not boy crazy if she merely talks about boys. Interest in the male animal is par for the course at 15.

Crowning Glory

Dear Ann: You'll probably think I'm silly but I would like a little advice on a trivial matter. I'm on the lyin' side of 40, considered attractive and most people think I'm about 33.

My hair is starting to turn gray and I abhor the thought of dying it. Is there anything else that can be done with gray hair?—PHYLIS.

Dear Phylis: Yes. You can admire it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
